Senate OKs GI Pay Hike Unanimously

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has approved unanimously a pay raise for practically everyone in the armed forces except recruits, apprentice seamen and privates with less than two years service.

The measure which would increase military payrolls more than $1.2 billion a year, goes to the House, which has passed a similar but slightly less generous bill.

Usually a Senate-House conference committee works out differences between similar bills. But Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev.,

who steered the pay raise through the Senate Tuesday by an 84-0 vote, said he hopes a conference will not be necessary this time and that the House will accept the Senate bill.

The decision on what the House would provide increases to most active duty personnel, to reservists and National Guardsmen and to those drawing military retirement pay.

The Senate version would cost $1,227,330,000 a year, about $5 million more than that of the House.

The increases—the first since 1958—would begin Oct. 1 under the Senate bill.

Under the Senate bill, enlisted men would get boosts of $5 to $120 monthly. Raises for officers would range from $90 to $120 monthly.

The Senate and House bills would provide similar increases for the U.S. Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey and Public Health Service, which base their pay on military schedules. This would cost the taxpayers an additional $30,084,000 annually.

Both would provide the largest dollar and percentage raises for lieutenants, captains, majors and lieutenant colonels among officers and corporals, sergeants and other skilled technicians in the enlisted grades.

But the Senate bill would apply some of these boosts to young officers and noncoms with less than two years service and give them larger increases at times in their careers when they face the decision of re-enlisting or returning to civilian life.

The House version would limit pay increases to active personnel with more than two years service. Its theory was that many short termers are merely serving out an obligation resulting from the draft.

Approved for the first time by both Senate and House is an extra $55 a month for any officer or enlisted man on cold war duty who is subject to enemy fire or similar hazard in such places as Viet Nam and South Korea.

Viet Nam Reds Nab Tribesmen

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Communist guerrillas raided a hamlet of Montagnards—mountain tribesmen—in South Viet Nam's central highlands Tuesday and captured 91 tribesmen, the Vietnamese government reported today.

The government said 20 Montagnards returned to the fortified hamlet, one of many established under a U.S.-Vietnamese program to swing primitive tribes to President Ngo Dinh Diem's government.

The government said the guerrillas burned seven houses and took away 41 water buffalo.

The government also reported its planes killed 40 guerrillas who made an unsuccessful attack on a military outpost in the Mekong Delta Sunday night. U.S. military authorities could not confirm the claim.

Police Pay Raise Okayed by Solons

A pay raise for all Circleville Policemen was authorized last night by City Council.

The increases, under Council study for several weeks, moved smoothly through last night's session. An original pay hike ordinance was returned to committee on July 16 for further study and revision, with the main purpose of bringing police sergeant hikes in line with other proposed raises.

The revised ordinance was passed last night on a 6-0 vote. Councilman D. J. Carpenter was absent.

Largest boosts will go to starting patrolmen whose base pay will be upped $420 yearly. This decision stems from Council's emphasis on making police jobs more attractive to prospective candidates.

YEARLY increases for sergeants will range from $240 for those newly promoted to $180 for those with five years of service.

Patrolmen with three years experience will receive increases of $240 yearly. Council based its thinking in this case on efforts to keep veteran patrolmen and provide incentive for them to remain with the department.

Council undertook the pay raise study several weeks ago following the resignation of three patrolmen within a short period of time. All of the officers cited low pay as their main reasons for quitting.

The approved ordinance also provides a yearly hike of $300 for Police Chief Robert Temple.

Here is the new and old yearly scale for sergeants, with new rates listed first: 90-day probationary, $4620—$4380 ($4680 after completing probationary period); after two years in grade, $4560—$4800—$4620; after four years in grade, $4860—$4680; after five years in grade, $4920—$4740.

The comparative scale for patrolmen is, new rates listed first: starting, $4380; completion of three months service, $4500—$4080 after one year of service, $4560—$4200; after completion of three years service, $4620—$4320.

THE ORDINANCE also set the hourly pay rate for all policemen below the rank of chief for hours worked in excess of 48 weekly. Here is the hourly scale for sergeants: starting, $2.07; after two years, $2.09; after three years, 2.13; after four years, $2.15; after five years, $2.18.

The scale for patrolmen is: starting, $1.94; after one year, $2.02; after three years, $2.04.

Chief Temple, present at last night's session, expressed thanks to Council for the salary increases on behalf of the police department.

A second ordinance placed on its passage was one providing the hourly pay rate for special policemen. The rate was set at $1.75 per hour on a regular basis and $1.93 per hour for hours worked in excess of 48 weekly.

Civil Rights Bill OK Is 'Sighted'

But Senate Filibuster Remains Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lobbyists for civil rights legislation redoubled their efforts today upon being told that "victory is in sight." But it was acknowledged that the votes to get a "meaningful" bill through Congress are far from clinched.

Delegates to a strategy conference called by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People scheduled a round of conferences with Congress members.

Speaking to the conference Tuesday night, Victor Reuther acknowledged that a "larger number of converts" is needed, but said "we can see the light of victory."

Reuther is executive assistant to his brother Walter, president of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers. Walter Reuther was to be the speaker but was delayed in getting here.

The great problem is how to get a bill past the expected Senate filibuster by Southerners. Clamping down on the filibuster would require a two-thirds majority—67 if all 100 senators voted.

"The way I count votes," said Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., "I think we've got 60 right now. Assuming the full membership is on the floor, we'll need seven more."

But Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., said he is "always more pessimistic than many of my friends" on mustering votes to end a filibuster.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., told NAACP delegates: "Anybody who says Republicans cannot be counted upon to help is not telling the truth." He figured that about one-third of the 33 Republican senators are firmly committed to all of President Kennedy's bill "and more too."

Another third are against it, he said, and one third are undecided.

It's Another Boy For First Family

Birth Comes Prematurely

JFK Flies to Hyannis On Emergency Call

OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, wife of the President, gave birth to their third child—a son—today at the base hospital.

The White House spokesman said the condition of the child born five and a half weeks prematurely and that the condition of Mrs. Kennedy was good.

The child was placed in an oxygen tent.

Like the first son, John Jr., the child was born before the President could reach the scene despite a mad dash from the White House when he learned his wife, Jacqueline, 34, had been taken to the hospital.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Mrs. Kennedy felt pains while with her two children, Caroline and John Jr. this morning and that Dr. John W. Walsh, her obstetrician, was notified immediately.

Dr. Walsh was on hand when Mrs. Kennedy arrived at the hospital shortly after 11:30 a.m. EDT.

Mrs. Kennedy, who made the trip from the Kennedy summer home on Squaw Island, arrived at the hospital at 11:48 a.m. EDT. Salinger said and "went into immediate surgery."

The new baby like the others was delivered by Caesarean section.

The birth occurred at 1:15 p.m. EDT.

The President was notified by telephone shortly before noon that his wife had been taken to the hospital.

An hour and a half after arrival—at noon Eastern Standard Time—she was joined by President Kennedy who made a hasty flight from Washington.

The President, surrounded by Secret Service men as he alighted from a small four-engine jet, made no statement upon his arrival—although it was known that he had been in contact with the base by telephone.

Otis—largest air defense command base in the world—has a permanent population of about 11,000 military and associated personnel. But at this time its population numbers nearly 20,000 with the presence of additional units for summer training.

The third Kennedy child had not been expected until later this month. Arrangements had been made for Mrs. Kennedy to come here for the birth.

But suddenly the President was notified four minutes before noon that his wife was being taken to the Air Force hospital near Hyannis Port, Mass. and 19 minutes later, the Chief Executive was off by helicopter from the south lawn of the White House for Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland, and a jet flight from there to Otis.

The first lady went to Squaw Island on Cape Cod early in July with John Jr., 2½ and daughter Caroline, 5½, to spend the interval preceding the birth of the new baby.

There were expectations that she probably would remain until the weekend after next, then come back here.

The announced plans were that her child would be delivered at Walter Reed Army Hospital here.

The word that the baby apparently was arriving prematurely came when Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger suddenly summoned a small group of newsmen to accompany the President on the flight to Cape Cod.

The Kennedys' second child, John Jr., arrived prematurely on Nov. 25, 1960.

At that time, Kennedy was president-elect and had started back for his temporary headquarters at Palm Beach, Fla., after having Thanksgiving dinner here with Mrs. Kennedy.

He received word upon his arrival at Palm Beach that Mrs. Kennedy had gone to the hospital here, and immediately boarded another plane and flew back, arriving after the birth.

Politics To Put GOP OK on Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans have assessed the political implications of the limited nuclear test ban treaty and most are expected to wind up voting for its ratification.

An influential Republican senator, who asked not to be quoted by name, said he and a majority of his colleagues have reached the conclusion that "we can't afford politically to vote against this treaty."

"There are a number of risks involved that I don't like to see us take as a nation," he said. "But if the Joint Chiefs of Staff say that, on balance, it is acceptable—and I believe they will—we won't have any choice but to support it."

He attributed this in part to what he called the "mother vote," women who have feared that nuclear fallout might result in deformed children and who believe the treaty may eliminate this danger.

As a result, the senator said, after extensive hearings beginning Monday he expects to see opposition virtually collapse.

Democratic leaders have said they are confident of getting the necessary support of two-thirds of those voting. But they have been wooing GOP backing in order to attain overwhelming approval.

Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he has had 5000 letters, divided equally for and against ratification.

Dirksen told a news conference Tuesday he had the Senate Republican Policy Committee staff poll the administrative assistants of 42 senators. He said the staff found 20 whose mail favored ratification, 14 whose mail opposed it and 8 evenly divided.

Haitian Rebels Press Drive To Cut Off Northern Areas

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Gen. Leon Cantave was reported leading his Haitian rebel invaders in a southwest thrust beyond Cap Haitien today, apparently trying to cut off the north coast and northwest part of the Negro republic.

President Francois Duvalier lifted at least 150 soldiers from Port Au Prince over the rebel lines to the vicinity of Cap Haitien, Associated Press correspondent Robert Berrelet reported from the Haitian capital.

The approximately 500 invaders, their ranks reportedly swelled by Haitian army deserters, were said to be advancing in two columns after apparently deciding against storming Cap Haitien, 90 miles north of Port Au Prince.

An unconfirmed report said another rebel force had landed at St. Marc, a port about 40 miles northwest of Port Au Prince and due southwest of Cap Haitien, Haiti's second largest city.

Duvalier is known to have a strong post at Hinche, an inland city midway between Port Au Prince and Cap Haitien but separated from St. Marc by mountains.

In Washington, the Council of the Organization of American States Tuesday ordered its special committee on the earlier Dominican-Haitian dispute to investigate Haiti's new charges that the invaders came from the Dominican Republic. The nations share the island of Hispaniola.

Arturo Calventi, Dominican ambassador to the OAS, told the council that Haitian charges were unfounded.

Paul Verna, the invaders' spokesman in Santo Domingo said earlier an island off the Haitian coast was the staging site for the invasion. However, a number of the officers of the invasion force had been living in Santo Domingo.

The Duvalier regime declared northeast Haiti—scene of the initial invasion Monday—a war zone and imposed a nighttime curfew on Cap Haitien.

Port Au Prince, Duvalier's stronghold, did not reflect war tensions, Berrelet reported in a censored dispatch. He said bars and cafes were open and thousands of Haitians strolled the streets as usual.

The Haitian government radio warned Americans to pull out of the war zone, but the approximately 20 American families on sisal plantations near Phaeton were believed in no immediate danger.

Reports reaching the U.S. State Department said the Americans did not pull out. Glion Curtis Jr., U.S. charge d'affaires in Port Au Prince, advised the State Department he contacted the families and "they seem to be experiencing no problem as the result of any military operations in the vicinity."

Are Jazzed-Up Gospel Songs Blasphemous?

NEW YORK (AP)—Are jazzed-up gospel songs blasphemous?

The question was debated Tuesday night in front of the Sweet Chariot, a supper club in the Times Square theater district.

A Negro religious group gathered before the club on West 46th Street and sang Negro spirituals for 2½ hours to protest the club's "prostituting of religious songs and symbols of the church."

The club's entertainers and waitresses—the latter called "angels"—and wearing skimpy costumes with wings—came outside to engage in a song duel.

"Oh, when the saints go marching in," sang the 22 employees, in the same fashion as the jazzed-up gospel songs which the club features.

The church group responded: "Swing low, sweet chariot, comin' for to carry me home."

Theatergoers, with nothing to do during intermission, flocked over. They quickly took sides, singing with the group they championed.

The Rev. C. S. Stamps of the Harlem, who led the religious group, said the club was "blaspheming religious hymns." His supporters carried signs saying "Religious songs should not be used in a place of this nature."

Housing Settlements In Quake Area Started

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Workers have begun constructing housing settlements for the refugees of Skopje, devastated by an earthquake that took more than 1,000 lives July 26.

The settlements are expected to house 12,000 persons before the end of the year. Eventually the city of 270,000 will be rebuilt on a different site.

A light earthquake was felt near Sarajevo, 200 miles northwest of Skopje this morning. There was no material damage.

Next Round of East-West Parleys Won't Be as Smooth as Last One

WASHINGTON (AP)—As East-West negotiations go, the recent conclusion of a limited nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviet Union was a breeze. The next round won't be so easy.

Premier Khrushchev's insistent call for an East-West nonaggression treaty seems certain to provide the central issue in negotiations at the next stage.

The problem of finding out how the United States should approach those negotiations and what Khrushchev wants to accomplish in them is being explored by Secretary of State Dean Rusk in talks with top Soviet leaders in Moscow this week.

Khrushchev has made his main point clear. At the signing of the test ban pact Monday in Moscow he declared that "the next step, in our opinion, should be to conclude a nonaggression pact between the member states of NATO and the states belonging to the Warsaw Treaty."

While the United States position on his proposal is publicly flexible, American leaders undoubtedly are opposed to the pact in the form in which Khrushchev wants it.

The public flexibility is due to a desire here to keep Western negotiations with the Soviet government moving forward and to find out whether a modified nonaggression agreement acceptable to both sides might be worked out.

What course Khrushchev eventually takes depends on his real goals, about which Washington officials are uncertain. If, as many suspect, he is angling for some kind of recognition of Communist East Germany, the United States and its allies will face extreme difficulty in coming to terms with him in the next round. The Western powers do not recognize East Germany, a member of the Warsaw Treaty.

In the view of some of the best informed authorities here a non-aggression pact would be meaningless except as a kind of good will gesture toward peace. All the countries which are members of the United Nations, including the Soviet Union and the United States, are already committed to nonaggression by the U.N. charter.

French President Charles de Gaulle has made clear his opposition to the proposed nonaggression pact—as well as his unwillingness to sign the nuclear test ban agreement.

It is understood that De Gaulle's stand taken in a news conference July 29, has been affirmed in a message he sent this week to President Kennedy. De Gaulle is reported to have told Kennedy that France does not intend to sign the test ban treaty—ever at the price of U.S. aid for France's nuclear program.

The Kennedy administration's approach to the next phase of negotiations with the Soviet Union is to try to broaden the nonaggression issue to embrace larger questions of European security.

The principle point of conflict is Berlin. The United States would like to see Khrushchev eliminate the possibility of a new Berlin crisis by agreeing to forego the use of threats or pressure on West Berlin or its supply lines.

Another counterproposal being talked about by officials here would call for Khrushchev to agree to some kind of inspection procedures east and west of the dividing line in Europe in order to reduce the dangers of surprise attack.

Whether further talks between the United States and the Soviet Union can produce some formula for bringing these conflicting purposes together into a single agreement is problematical. Officials think that Rusk may have some clues when he returns to Washington this weekend to report to President Kennedy.

Senate OKs GI Pay Hike Unanimously

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has approved unanimously a pay raise for practically everyone in the armed forces except recruits, apprentice seamen and privates with less than two years service.

The measure which would increase military payrolls more than $1.2 billion a year, goes to the House, which has passed a similar but slightly less generous bill.

who steered the pay raise through the Senate Tuesday by an 84-0 vote, said he hopes a conference will not be necessary this time and that the House will accept the Senate bill.

The decision on what the House will do probably rests with Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, who rules with a firm hand.

The Senate and House bills would provide increases to most active duty personnel, to reservists and National Guardsmen and to those drawing military retirement pay.

The Senate version would cost $1,227,330,000 a year, about $5 million more than that of the House.

The increases—the first since 1958—would begin Oct. 1 under the Senate bill.

Under the Senate bill, enlisted men would get boosts of $5 to $120 monthly. Raises for officers would range from $90 to $120 monthly.

The Senate and House bills would provide similar increases for the U.S. Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey and Public Health Service, which base their pay on military schedules. This would cost the taxpayers an additional $30,084,000 annually.

Both would provide the largest

The House version would limit pay increases to active personnel with more than two years service. Its theory was that many short termers are merely serving out an obligation resulting from the draft.

Approved for the first time by both Senate and House is an extra $55 a month for any officer or enlisted man on cold war duty who is subject to enemy fire or similar hazard in such places as Viet Nam and South Korea.

Police Pay Raise Okayed by Solons

A pay raise for all Circleville Policemen was authorized last night by City Council.

The increases, under Council study for several weeks, moved smoothly through last night's session. An original pay hike ordinance was returned to committee on July 16 for further study and revision, with the main purpose of bringing police sergeant hikes in line with other proposed raises.

The revised ordinance was passed last night on a 6-0 vote. Councilman D. J. Carpenter was absent. Largest boosts will go to starting patrolmen whose base pay will be upped $420 yearly. This decision stems from Council's emphasis on making police jobs more attractive to prospective candidates.

YEARLY increases for sergeants will range from $240 for those newly promoted to $180 for those with five years of service.

Patrolmen with three years experience will receive increases of $240 yearly. Council based its thinking in this case on efforts to keep veteran patrolmen and provide incentive for them to remain with the department.

Council undertook the pay raise study several weeks ago following the resignation of three patrolmen within a short period of time. All of the officers cited low pay as their main reasons for quitting.

The approved ordinance also provides a yearly hike of $300 for Police Chief Robert Temple.

Here is the new and old yearly scale for sergeants, with new rates listed first: 90-day probationary, $4620—$4380 ($4680 after completing probationary period); after two years in grade, $4740—$4560; after three years in grade, $4800—$4620; after four years in grade, $4860—$4680; after five years in grade, $4920—$4740.

The comparative scale for patrolmen is, new rates listed first: starting, $4380; completion of three months service, $4500—$4080 after one year of service, $4560—$4200; after completion of three years service, $4620—$4320.

THE ORDINANCE also set the hourly pay rate for all policemen below the rank of chief for hours worked in excess of 48 weekly. Here is the hourly scale for sergeants: starting, $2.07; after two years, $2.09; after three years, 2.13; after four years, $2.15; after five years, $2.18.

The scale for patrolmen is: starting, $1.94; after one year, $2.02; after three years, $2.04.

Chief Temple, present at last night's session, expressed thanks to Council for the salary increases on behalf of the police department.

A second ordinance placed on its passage was one providing the hourly pay rate for special policemen. The rate was set at $1.75 per hour on a regular basis and $1.93 per hour for hours worked in excess of 48 weekly.

Civil Rights Bill OK Is 'Sighted'

But Senate Filibuster Remains Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lobbyists for civil rights legislation redoubled their efforts today upon being told that "Victory is in sight." But it was acknowledged that the votes to get a "meaningful" bill through Congress are far from clinched.

Delegates to a strategy conference called by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People scheduled a round of conferences with Congress members.

Speaking to the conference Tuesday night, Victor Reuther acknowledged that a "larger number of converts" is needed, but said "we can see the light of victory."

Reuther is executive assistant to his brother Walter, president of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers. Walter Reuther was to be the speaker but was delayed in getting here.

The great problem is how to get a bill past the expected Senate filibuster by Southerners. Clamping down on the filibuster would require a two-thirds majority—67 if all 100 senators voted.

"The way I count votes," said Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., "I think we've got 60 right now. Assuming the full membership is on the floor, we'll need seven more."

But Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., said he is "always more pessimistic than many of my friends" on mustering votes to end a filibuster.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., told NAACP delegates: "Anybody who says Republicans cannot be counted upon to help is not telling the truth." He figured that about one-third of the 33 Republican senators are firmly committed to the President Kennedy's bill "and more too." Another third are against it, he said, and one third are undecided.

It's Another Boy For First Family

Birth Comes Prematurely

JFK Flies to Hyannis On Emergency Call

OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy, wife of the President, gave birth to their third child—a son—today at the base hospital.

The White House spokesman said the condition of the child born five and a half weeks prematurely and that the condition of Mrs. Kennedy was good.

The child was placed in an oxygen tent.

Like the first son, John Jr., the child was born before the President could reach the scene despite a mad dash from the White House when he learned his wife, Jacqueline, 34, had been taken to the hospital.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Mrs. Kennedy felt pains while with her two children, Caroline and John Jr. this morning and that Dr. John W. Walsh, her obstetrician, was notified immediately.

Dr. Walsh was on hand when Mrs. Kennedy arrived at the hospital shortly after 11:30 a.m. EDT.

Mrs. Kennedy, who made the trip from the Kennedy summer home on Squaw Island, arrived at the hospital at 11:48 a.m. EDT. Salinger said and "went into immediate surgery."

The new baby like the others was delivered by Caesarean section.

The birth occurred at 1:15 p.m. EDT.

The President was notified by telephone shortly before noon that his wife had been taken to the hospital.

An hour and a half after arrival—at noon Eastern Standard Time—she was joined by President Kennedy who made a hasty flight from Washington.

The President, surrounded by Secret Service men as he alighted from a small four-engine jet, made no statement upon his arrival—although it was known that he had been in contact with the base by telephone.

Otis—largest air defense command base in the world—has a permanent population of about 11,000 military and associated personnel. But at this time its population numbers nearly 20,000 with the presence of additional units for summer training.

The third Kennedy child had not been expected until later this month. Arrangements had been made for Mrs. Kennedy to come here for the birth.

But suddenly the President was notified four minutes before noon that his wife was being taken to the Air Force hospital near Hyannis Port, Mass., and 19 minutes later, the Chief Executive was off by helicopter from the south lawn of the White House for Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland, and a jet flight from there to Otis.

The first lady went to Squaw Island on Cape Cod early in July with John Jr., 2½ and daughter Caroline, 5½, to spend the interval preceding the birth of the new baby.

There were expectations that she probably would remain until the weekend after next, then come back here.

The announced plans were that her child would be delivered at Walter Reed Army Hospital here.

The word that the baby apparently was arriving prematurely came when Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger suddenly summoned a small group of newsmen to accompany the President on the flight to Cape Cod.

The Kennedy's second child, John Jr., arrived prematurely on Nov. 25, 1960.

At that time, Kennedy was president-elect and had started back for his temporary headquarters at Palm Beach, Fla., after having Thanksgiving dinner here with Mrs. Kennedy.

He received word upon his arrival at Palm Beach that Mrs. Kennedy had gone to the hospital here, and immediately boarded another plane and flew back, arriving after the birth.

Politics To Put GOP OK on Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republicans have assessed the political implications of the limited nuclear test ban treaty and most are expected to wind up voting for its ratification.

An influential Republican senator, who asked not to be quoted by name, said he and a majority of his colleagues have reached the conclusion that "we can't afford politically to vote against this treaty."

"There are a number of risks involved that I don't like to see us take as a nation," he said. "But if the Joint Chiefs of Staff say that, on balance, it is acceptable—and I believe they will—we won't have any choice but to support it."

He attributed this in part to what he called the "mother vote," women who have feared that nuclear fallout might result in deformed children and who believe the treaty may eliminate this danger.

As a result, the senator said, after extensive hearings beginning Monday he expects to see opposition virtually collapse.

Democratic leaders have said they are confident of getting the necessary support of two-thirds of those voting. But they have been wooing GOP backing in order to attain overwhelming approval.

Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he has had 5000 letters, divided equally for and against ratification.

Dirksen told a news conference Tuesday he had the Senate Republican Policy Committee staff poll the administrative assistants of 42 senators. He said the staff found 20 whose mail favored ratification, 14 whose mail opposed it and 8 evenly divided.

Once Around Roundtown

A STEADY rainfall during the night measured nearly one inch. The official reading was 0.99 of an inch.

The welcomed rain, added to the weekend showers, makes a total of 1.07 inches for August. The normal accumulations for the month is 0.78 of an inch.

Normal rainfall for the year is 26.27 and the actual measure is 25.83 inches.

Haitian Rebels Press Drive To Cut Off Northern Areas

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Gen. Leon Cantave was reported leading his Haitian rebel invaders in a south-west thrust beyond Cap Haitien today, apparently trying to cut off the north coast and northwest part of the Negro republic.

President Francois Duvalier air lifted at least 150 soldiers from Port Au Prince over the rebel lines to the vicinity of Cap Haitien, Associated Press correspondent Robert Berrellez reported from the Haitian capital.

The approximately 500 invaders, their ranks reportedly swelled by Haitian army deserters, were said to be advancing in two columns after apparently deciding against storming Cap Haitien, 90 miles north of Port Au Prince.

An unconfirmed report said another rebel force had landed at St. Marc, a port about 40 miles northwest of Port Au Prince and due southwest of Cap Haitien, Haiti's second largest city.

Duvalier is known to have a strong post at Hinche, an inland city midway between Port Au Prince and Cap Haitien but separated from St. Marc by mountains.

In Washington, the Council of the Organization of American States Tuesday ordered its special committee on the earlier Dominican-Haitian dispute to investigate Haiti's new charges that the invaders came from the Dominican Republic. The nations share the island of Hispaniola.

Arturo Calvert, Dominican ambassador to the OAS, told the council that Haitian charges were unfounded.

Paul Verna, the invaders' spokesman in Santo Domingo said earlier an island off the Haitian coast was the staging site for the invasion. However, a number of the officers of the invasion force had been living in Santo Domingo.

The Duvalier regime declared northeast Haiti—scene of the initial invasion Monday—a war zone and imposed a nighttime curfew on Cap Haitien.

Port Au Prince, Duvalier's stronghold, did not reflect war tensions, Berrellez reported in a censored dispatch. He said bars and cafes were open and thousands of Haitians strolled the streets as usual.

The Haitian government radio warned Americans to pull out of the war zone, but the approximately 20 American families on sisal plantations near Phaeton were believed in no immediate danger.

Reports reaching the U.S. State Department said the Americans did not pull out. Glion Curtis Jr., U.S. charge d'affaires in Port Au Prince, advised the State Department he contacted the families and "they seem to be experiencing no problem as the result of any military operations in the vicinity."

New Ward Case Evidence Readied

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Stephen Ward's last girl friend said today she will give Lord Denning sensational new evidence in Britain's sex and security scandal.

"I received Stephen's last letter to me last night," said 22-year-old Julie Gulliver. "I can't say anything about it yet."

Denning, a judge, is investigating security aspects of the affairs Ward's protegee, call girl Christine Keeler, carried on simultaneously with former War Minister John D. Profumo and assistant Soviet naval attaché Eugene Ivanov. Profumo resigned June 4 from Parliament and the government in disgrace. Ivanov returned to Moscow before the scandal broke.

India Government Fears China-Pakistan Hookup

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Indian government has received reports that a number of Chinese Communist military officers were seen recently in East Pakistan, a spokesman for the Foreign Ministry said today.

The Indian government has recently expressed fear of a possible Chinese-Pakistani alignment against India.

Are Jazzed-Up Gospel Songs Blasphemous?

NEW YORK (AP)—Are jazzed-up gospel songs blasphemous?

The question was debated Tuesday night in front of the Sweet Chariot, a supper club in the Times Square theater district.

A Negro religious group gathered before the club on West 46th Street and sang Negro spirituals for 2½ hours to protest the club's "prostituting of religious songs and symbols of the church."

The club's entertainers and waitresses—the latter called "angels" and wearing skimpy costumes with wings—came outside to engage in a song duel.

"Oh, when the saints go marchin' in," sang the 22 employees, in the same fashion as the jazzed-up gospel songs which the club features.

The church group responded: "Swing low, sweet chariot, comin' for to carry me home."

Theatergoers, with nothing to do during intermission, flocked over. They quickly took sides, singing with the group they championed.

The Rev. C. S. Stamps of the Harlem, who led the religious group, said the club was "blaspheming religious hymns." His supporters carried signs saying "Religious songs should not be used in a place of this nature."

Housing Settlements In Quake Area Started

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Workers have begun constructing housing settlements for the refugees of Skopje, devastated by an earthquake that took more than 1,000 lives July 26.

The settlements are expected to house 12,000 persons before the end of the year. Eventually the city of 270,000 will be rebuilt on a different site.

A light earthquake was felt near Sarajevo, 200 miles northwest of Skopje this morning. There was no material damage.

Cubans Start Recruiting

Large-Scale Invasion Not Part of Strategy

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Recruiting of Cubans for warfare against Fidel Castro reportedly is in progress today at secret spots in Miami, New York City, Chicago, and somewhere in New Jersey.

Exiles said several revolutionary organizations were enlisting men. Veterans of the unsuccessful 1961 Cuba invasion were reported figuring prominently in the operation.

The information coincided with a series of visits to Central America by exile leaders.

A roster of exile leader visitors to Nicaragua last week sounded like a convention roll call. Nicaraguan President Rene Schick and ex-President Luis Somoza are avowed Castro foes.

Cuban ex-president Carlos Prío Socarras, one of those there, returned Tuesday and said, "Everything is going well, but in the interest of necessary discretion I can say no more."

Refugees recalled a similar situation preceding the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion, and advised caution against publicity in order "not to tip off Castro."

Some key exile leaders said they had conferred with CIA agents about plans.

They emphasized that a large-scale invasion was not envisioned in the current program. Rather, multiple raids by commandos, infiltration, sabotage and guerrilla warfare were contemplated, they said.

Hedges suggested the City Health Department or even Council's Health Committee look into the matter. He said the possibility of some sort of treatment, chemical or otherwise, be investigated.

Fellow solons agreed that corrective should be taken. The matter was referred to the Health Committee.

MAYOR Richard Penn said the odor comes from the lagoon area near the city disposal plant west of Route 23. He said the site contains waste from both the city and the Container plant.

Penn said future corrective steps are in sight. He referred to the proposed plans for a new city sewage disposal plant and the expansion program now under way at Container which will include a new process for disposal of waste material. The CCA operation will be done through an incinerator system.

BOYER FILED
The General Telephone Company of Ohio has filed a suit against Alva Boyer Sr., Route 2, on a past-due account totalling $1,140.76.

The utility company's petition states that a credit card for charging long-distance phone calls was issued to Boyer in March 1962.

Boyer gave the card to his son, Alva Boyer Jr., who was serving with the armed forces. From March 11, 1962 through Sept. 10, 1962, a total of $1,140.76 in phone calls was charged to the account and Boyer has "refused and neglected" to pay.

The phone company alleges Boyer was negligent in entrusting the card to his son and for not controlling its use.

Solon Seeks Solution to Odor Problem

Obnoxious odors that drift over the south end of the city during hot, humid weather has drawn the ire of Councilman Robert Hedges.

Hedges said the unpleasant smell almost reached an unbearable stage during several hot days last week. He demanded corrective steps be taken explaining the situation at last night's Council meeting.

Hedges suggested the City Health Department or even Council's Health Committee look into the matter. He said the possibility of some sort of treatment, chemical or otherwise, be investigated.

Fellow solons agreed that corrective should be taken. The matter was referred to the Health Committee.

Man Finds Mother Dead in Wreckage

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A young Newark man came upon a wrecked car on the city's west side early today, police said, stopped to try to help, and learned his mother had died in the accident.

Officers identified the victim as Mrs. Charlotte A. McLaughlin, 42, a Newark widow. They said her 1958 model car swerved off the street and hit a hydrant, popping out the windshield and hurling her through the opening to the ground. It then rolled over her.

A truck driver saw the wreck, they said, and immediately behind him was Mrs. McLaughlin's son Dave, about 20. The victim also had a married daughter.

Attorney General To Fire 19 Aides

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William Saxbe said today that 19 part-time assistant attorneys general who prosecute drive point system cases, will lose their jobs Sept. 1.

A new law requiring county prosecutors instead of the attorney general to prosecute drivers who accumulate 12 points for moving traffic violations becomes effective Aug. 26.

Saxbe said he had notified the 19 that they will be cut off his payroll Sept. 1. The shift of the duties will save the state about $60,000 a year but will throw more duties on local prosecutors and in some instances may cause an increase in their staffs, officials said.

Man, Son Disagree On Court Penalty

CINCINNATI (AP)—John Ferris and his son, Thomas, 22, don't agree when it comes to choosing between jail or the use of their cars.

They were up before Traffic Court Judge Robert V. Wood Tuesday on their third speeding offense within the last three years.

The judge gave each a choice of two penalties—a 15-day suspension of their drivers licenses or a night in the Workhouse. A $10 fine went with both sentences.

John Ferris said he had to drive to work and chose jail.

"He's a fool," said Thomas. "I would rather hitchhike to work."

Fire Equipment Purchase Gets City Approval

Funds to be used for the purchase of new equipment for the Circleville Fire Department were appropriated last night by Circleville Council.

The solons earmarked $750 from the general revenue fund to pay for the gear. Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe was present to describe the equipment needed.

Chief Wolfe said the money will be used to purchase two smoke masks, a desk, a file cabinet, fire helmets and coats and booster hose for the fire truck.

In other legislative matters, the city fathers adopted a resolution authorizing the City Safety Director to enter into mutual aid fire protection contracts with five neighboring cities and villages.

THE CONTRACTS will be signed with Washington C. H., Columbus, Chillicothe, Williamsport and Ashville. Previous agreements with these localities expire this month. The new contracts will extend for three years.

A second resolution gaining adoption authorized the City Auditor to set up a separate account in the bond retirement fund account. The move applies to the $575,000 Waterworks bond issue that was sold by the city. It is to be retired from the surplus earnings of the City Waterworks System.

Ohio Turncoat Plans Return

HONG KONG (AP)—American turncoat Lowell D. Skinner plans to leave Thursday for the United States.

Skinner booked a flight for Tokyo, where he will catch another plane (Northwest Airlines) that is expected in New York Friday morning. He said he would stop over in New York before going to his home in Akron, Ohio.

The 32-year-old former U.S. Army corporal came to Hong Kong last week after nine years in Red China. He said he was disillusioned with Chinese communism.

He was among 21 American war prisoners who refused repatriation after the Korean armistice in 1953.

Skinner said two turncoats still in China also have decided to leave. He said they were Scott L. Rush of Marietta, Ohio, and Albert C. Belhomme of Ashland, Pa.

SMOKING AND THE NURSING MOTHER

Q. Is it possible for harmful agents in tobacco to reach the milk of nursing mothers who smoke and thus harm the baby?

A. Most doctors would prefer that the expectant mother and the nursing mother not smoke. Many substances to which the nursing mother may be exposed enter breast milk. This might apply to certain constituents of tobacco, to drugs, and to various other substances. Whether the nursing infant is actually harmed is somewhat beside the point... it just seems wise for the mother to provide the infant with food or care of the highest possible quality.

HOOKWORM vs. RINGWORM

Q. What is hookworm? Is it the same as ringworm?

A. No, the two are quite dissimilar. Ringworm is an infection of the skin, hair or nails caused by various fungi. Hookworm disease is an intestinal infestation due to a species of round worms. The parasites are called hookworms because they are armed with ventral teeth or cutting plates used to attach themselves to the intestinal wall.

Eighteen Years After

Eighteen years ago — on Aug. 14, 1945 — the bells were chiming here for victory in Japan. Coming after victory in Europe, V-J Day in 1945 was to be linked inescapably with that day just nine days before when the B-29 bomber Enola Gay dropped on Hiroshima the first atom bomb ever used as a weapon in war.

That bomb wiped out most of the city. The one U. S. airmen dropped on Nagasaki three days later was even more powerful. In both places, the dead were too numerous to be counted. The war was brought to a speedy end and a million American military casualties may have been avoided.

It is to the credit of most of the Japanese people that they have seen and accepted the new departure from ancient ways. But the bells chiming for V-J Day are but faintly heard these days.

Since that day 18 years ago, another war has been fought in the Pacific, a war in which there has been only an armistice for 10 years and which has again made the headlines as communist infiltrators have crossed the Korean no man's land to kill American troops.

Tough Luck

Somewhere near the top of the list of dirty tricks is a project the scientists are fooling around with just now. The trouble with it is that it probably will prove a boon to mankind.

Briefly, they have learned that lady insects make little high-pitched noises when they want to attract a gentleman insect. And the scientists have found they can jam these sounds, just as they can jam radio signals. . .

Get the picture? If the males don't hear the females, many a beautiful friendship will be prevented, and eventually the species will die out. In a few years this may do away with poisons altogether.

Seem unfair to bugs? Well, they're none too scrupulous about man's rights, either.

Cross Off Bridge

Industrious guardians of man's health have ruled out one harmful thing after another until it's hardly safe to sit quietly and breathe. In fact, the evidence is conclusive that even this will kill you in time.

And the game of bridge is murderous — especially to those who tend to be a little hypertensive anyhow. That's the word from the fellows who fool around with the electro-cardiograms. Let someone trump your ace and the old blood pressure rises like a balloon.

Everyone knows what that means. It means we've lost one more means of whiling away the time while we await the inevitable.

Office Gang: Scrappy Family

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The average business office today is pictured as a place full of team spirit, where everybody selflessly labors for the good of the corporation.

The truth is, however, that beneath the serene surface lurk furies every bit as venomous as the one that split the Hatfields and the McCoys.

The reason there are so few murders in the office is that it is difficult for the employees to stab each other to death with the only paper clips.

What lies behind these wordless antagonisms? If you check your own office, you might find the following furies typical:

The second vice president is miffed at the first vice president because the first vice president has one more window in his office than the second vice president has in his.

In 1942, the sales manager borrowed $1.50 in lunch money from the assistant treasurer and forgot to pay it back. The assistant treasurer hasn't spoken to him since.

In 1938 he personnel director asked pretty young Miss Maria O'Callahan to stay late to type a couple of letters when she was trying to hurry to meet her date. The date didn't wait for her, and Miss O'Callahan now thinks, 25 years afterward, that it is the personnel director's fault she became an old maid.

Mrs. Adele Rankle, secretary to the boss, glares frigidly every time Ronald Adenoid, the stock room clerk, thumps a package of copy paper on her desk. She remembers that, back in 1954, Ronald, then a brash new office boy, told her to go fly a kite when she asked him to please clean out her pencil sharpener.

Every girl in the office snubs Gerald Pincher the tightwad bachelor playboy, because he lives up to his name. He always tries for a free pinch—never takes them out to dinner.

Elmer Eager, the eagle-eyed efficiency expert, pads constantly about the desks in tight-lipped quest like a mute ferret. He is sure each employee is getting away with something he shouldn't—and Elmer is furious because he can't find out what it is.

Everybody turns a cold shoulder to Harry Smiley, the cheerful executive trainee. He is the only one who can tell jokes that make the boss laugh, and the rest of the staff are sure Harry is trying to grin his way to the top.

Abner craggy, the office grouch, hasn't spoken to anyone since 1939, the year he got his last merit raise, and all he said then was, "Well, it could have been more."

Yep, that's the office gang, just one big scrappy family. Snarling onward and upward together. It's their feuds that give the spirit to the place.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Signing of the nuclear test ban treaty may give some defense industries pause but could mean stepped up activities in others.

So many strong spots are reported elsewhere that the business world seems largely expectant of an increased, if moderate, gain in the total economy after Labor Day.

The treaty still has a long road to go in the U.S. Senate. And the skepticism expressed by many Americans as to the reliability of Russian promises could assure increased spending in forms of defense untouched by the treaty—to be ready just in case, and to meet pressure in other forms of the cold war.

Total disarmament — with its cancellation of defense orders—isn't a factor yet in any but the most long-range economic planning.

Defense Department appropriations aren't involved in any important degree, at least at present.

Rising government spending as a whole, however, is a sure thing. Corporation economists as a whole, are bounting on this as one of the factors sure to bolster the economy in coming months.

The spending is going up at state and local levels as well as federal—as many taxpayers are well aware.

Even more important is the continuing large outpourings from consumers' purses and a moderate, but reassuring, rise in business spending for new equipment and plants.

Such outlays by business in recent years are now paying dividends, as the current reports of increased profits show.

The new equipment is turning out more goods per man hour, thus cutting production costs faster than wage scales have been rising.

Thanks largely to the high rate of auto sales, consumers have been increasing their total of installment debt.

Some economists worry about the stretching of payment periods in some areas, but most consider the credit gains on a firm basis.

Instalment debt has become a much-watched indicator of consumer psychology. It goes up when confidence is widespread. And consumer confidence is basic to economic growth.

With consumer, business and government spending all tending to rise, the outlook for the fall months is bright.

Additional Toys Needed This Year

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—The first Santa Claus letter of the season reached the postoffice here on a hot summer day but Don Miller, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Miller, had a good reason for getting his bid in early.

He enlisted the aid of an older cousin in printing the message: "Please bring five toys instead of three this year. We got twins last month."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FINLEY WAS on his way home through a dark alley when three thugs attacked him. Finley fought like a wildcat, but finally was overcome and robbed of all the change in his pocket—thirty cents, to be exact. "You're a fighting fellow," grunted one of the thugs with something like admiration in his voice, "but why would you be wanting to put up such a battle for a measly thirty cents?" "Sure," confided Finley, "I thought you wanted the ten dollars I've got hidden in me shoe!"

"In every organization," observed Dr. Charles Lapp, "there are three kinds of people: rowboat people, sailboat people, and steamboat people. Rowboat people need to be pushed or shoved along. Sailboat people move when a favorable wind is blowing. Steamboat people move continuously, through calm or storm. They are the ones who are masters of themselves, their surroundings, and their fate."

Terse verse from Colonel Francis Duffy:
"He let his head get swollen up.
And sniffed at those who hired him.
He thought himself a great big gun—
And that is why they fired him."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Why does a doctor listen to the chest with a stethoscope? What does he hear? Mrs. M.M. Texas Dear Mrs. M.: The stethoscope was first devised in the interest of modesty. It was a simple, open bamboo tube about a foot long which was applied to the chest.

Actually, the normal ear against the chest wall can hear just as well as with the stethoscope. But the modern stethoscope has distinct advantages. It can be used with greater ease when the patient is bedridden and on his back. With the stethoscope the doctor can listen to the sounds of breathing and the beat of the heart. His ear is trained to distinguish abnormal breathing sounds that might occur in bronchitis, pneumonia, asthma and other lung conditions. In asthma, the breath sounds are characteristically described as being a series of "pipes squeaks and groans."

The regular lub-dub sound of the heart has special meaning to the doctor, who carefully notes its rate rhythm and regularity. Heart murmurs, for example, can actually indicate to the doctor the condition of the heart that has caused them. Is an ectopic pregnancy the same as a tubal pregnancy? What causes it? Mrs. J.E.F. Ohio Dear Mrs. F.: Sometimes an unusual narrowing or curvature of the Fallopian tube prevents the normal passage of the egg from the ovary to the uterus or womb. If this egg becomes fertilized, and if the embryo attaches itself to the inner lining of the tube, it begins to grow at that site. This is called an ectopic or tubal pregnancy.

My neighbor thinks my daughter has St. Vitus dance. This frightens me.

Will you explain St. Vitus dance?

Mr. R.E. Miss Dear Mrs. E.: It must be assumed that your neighbor is a doctor. If she isn't then she is doing you, your child and herself a great disservice. Motivated by kindness, friends can induce fears that persist long after these people are proven to be wrong in their undisciplined diagnosis of other people's ailments.

St. Vitus Dance sometimes called Sydenham's chorea, occurs in association with some cases of rheumatic fever. Rapid, jerky and purposeless movements of the hands and fingers may indicate this condition. Sometimes families are inclined to dismiss these movements as "tics" and underestimate their importance.

If your daughter has symptoms that concern you, your anxieties can be assuaged by a thorough examination by your family physician.

Would you write about a condition called "polycythemia"?

Mrs. E.U. Arkansas Dear Mrs. U.: Polycythemia is a condition in which there is a marked increase in the number of red blood cells that circulate in the blood. Its cause is unknown.

It is a disease of middle age and seems to affect males more frequently than females.

Treatment with radioactive phosphorus is now used in addition to the established methods of phlebotomy, or bloodletting.

A Choice To Make

If you don't believe in the existence of something, isn't it a pretty wasteful, not to say silly, business to let most of your waking hours be dominated by non-something or nothing?

I am moved to ask this question by the persistence of the more compulsive types of atheists to make their non-belief prevail. They insist there is a great hollow, a void, at the back of the universe. I don't contest their rights to do this. But their whole lives seem to be conditioned by that void. They buttonhole you to prove that there's nothing there. They get obstreperous about it. The non-something even fills their dreams. And so this life, which is all that they believe exists, runs out on them, and they die without having had the time to enjoy the sensuous things that they can see, taste, smell and touch.

Mrs. Madalyn Murray of Baltimore, Maryland, who brought the suit to have even voluntary prayers eliminated from the public school attended by her son Bill, is the latest example of the person willing to be dominated by a non-something. Some four years ago she started to spend most of her free time fighting for her non-belief. Her battle against the Baltimore school system absorbed her energies. Because she was vocal, wasting other people's time, the people she annoyed struck back at her. Her automobile tires were cut, her flower beds were ripped up, and her son Bill found himself involved in a continual round of fist fights. All very reprehensible, but she went out of her way to invite it.

Now, having won her case before the Supreme Court, Mrs. Murray has filed incorporation papers setting up an organization for people who want to let their lives be dominated by a non-something. She hopes to establish a center for atheists on the plains of Kansas. There, with nobody to bother them, they can bow all day to the void.

I find this all very singular. I know lots of atheists and agnostics who, if you ask them, make no bones about stating their non-beliefs. Nobody troubles them, for they do not wax obstreperous if you disagree with them. They are live-and-let-live people, and they find time to enjoy the world around them. Their lives are not dominated by a non-something.

This business of letting your waking hours be conditioned by a void is all very Nineteenth Century. Karl Marx, the founder of Communism, was among the first to waste his hours trying to prove that religion was the opium of the people. Most of the people, whether they were Christians, atheists or agnostics, yawned and went about enjoying their religious observances on the one hand, or their beer and light opera on the other.

While Europe had its Marx, America had its Robert — or Royal Bob — Ingersoll. He was an entrancing figure, a lawyer, politician and Civil War colonel. He didn't let the whole of his life be dominated by a non-something. Even so, he campaigned vigorously for his non-belief. He was a part-time compulsive.

People in the Nineteenth Century disagreed with Marx and Ingersoll. But even in those days an atheist had to be pretty obstreperous to invite reprisals. Village atheists were laughed at and tolerated in most communities. Percy Bysshe Shelley got into trouble at college because of his professed non-belief. But nobody stopped him from writing his poetry.

Max Eastman, a former radical who has lost his faith in Marxian economics and politics, still thinks that Karl Marx was right about the non-something, the void. But Max Eastman, now in his eighties, believes in spending his time enjoying the things he can see, smell and touch. He lives for hours on the beach close to his home on Martha's Vineyard Island, worshipping the sun, the surf, and the aroma of his big cigar. He thinks Marx was a kook to have wasted his time being compulsive about the non-thing that is described in Archibald MacLeish's sonnet about "nothing, nothing, nothing, nothing at all."

Nobody bothers Max Eastman. Nobody would bother Mrs. Murray's son Bill if he had simply non-said his non-prayers while others were praying. If the void is there, it's there; if there is a God, there is a God. The U.S. state and social order lets you take your choice.

Some economists worry about the stretching of payment periods in some areas, but most consider the credit gains on a firm basis.

Instalment debt has become a much-watched indicator of consumer psychology. It goes up when confidence is widespread. And consumer confidence is basic to economic growth.

With consumer, business and government spending all tending to rise, the outlook for the fall months is bright.

Additional Toys Needed This Year

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—The first Santa Claus letter of the season reached the postoffice here on a hot summer day but Don Miller, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Miller, had a good reason for getting his bid in early.

He enlisted the aid of an older cousin in printing the message: "Please bring five toys instead of three this year. We got twins last month."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FINLEY WAS on his way home through a dark alley when three thugs attacked him. Finley fought like a wildcat, but finally was overcome and robbed of all the change in his pocket—thirty cents, to be exact. "You're a fighting fellow," grunted one of the thugs with something like admiration in his voice, "but why would you be wanting to put up such a battle for a measly thirty cents?" "Sure," confided Finley, "I thought yez wanted the ten dollars I've got hidden in me shoe!"

"In every organization," observed Dr. Charles Lapp, "there are three kinds of people: rowboat people, sailboat people, and steamboat people. Rowboat people need to be pushed or shoved along. Sailboat people move when a favorable wind is blowing. Steamboat people move continuously, through calm or storm. They are the ones who are masters of themselves, their surroundings, and their fate."

Terse verse from Colonel Francis Duffy: "He let his head get swollen up, And sniffed at those who hired him. He thought himself a great big gun— And that is why they fired him."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Why does a doctor listen to the chest with a stethoscope? What does he hear? Mrs. M.M. Texas Dear Mrs. M.: The stethoscope was first devised in the interest of modesty. It was a simple, open bamboo tube about a foot long which was applied to the chest.

Actually, the normal ear against the chest wall can hear just as well as with the stethoscope. But the modern stethoscope has distinct advantages. It can be used with greater ease when the patient is bedridden and on his back.

With the stethoscope the doctor can listen to the sounds of breathing and the beat of the heart. His ear is trained to distinguish abnormal breathing sounds that might occur in bronchitis, pneumonia, asthma and other lung conditions. In asthma, the breath sounds are characteristically described as being a series of "pipes squeaks and groans."

The regular hub-dub sound of the heart has special meaning to the doctor, who carefully notes its rate, rhythm and regularity. Heart murmurs, for example, can actually indicate to the doctor the condition of the heart that has caused them.

Is an ectopic pregnancy the same as a tubal pregnancy? What causes it? Mrs. J.E.F. Ohio Dear Mrs. F.: Sometimes an unusual narrowing or curvature of the Fallopian tube prevents the normal passage of the egg from the ovary to the uterus or womb.

If this egg becomes fertilized, and if the embryo attaches itself to the inner lining of the tube, it begins to grow at that site. This is called an ectopic or tubal pregnancy. My neighbor thinks my daughter has St. Vitus dance. This frightens me.

Will you explain St. Vitus dance? Mr. R.E. Miss Dear Mrs. E.: It must be assumed that your neighbor is a doctor. If she isn't then she is doing you, your child and herself a great disservice. Motivated by kindness, friends can induce fears that persist long after these people are proven to be wrong in their un-disciplined diagnosis of other people's ailments.

St. Vitus Dance sometimes called Sydenham's chorea, occurs in association with some cases of rheumatic fever. Rapid, jerky and purposeless movements of the hands and fingers may indicate this condition. Sometimes families are inclined to dismiss these movements as "tics" and underestimate their importance.

If your daughter has symptoms that concern you, your anxieties can be assuaged by a thorough examination by your family physician.

Would you write about a condition called "polycythemia"? Mrs. E.U. Arkansas Dear Mrs. U.: Polycythemia is a condition in which there is a marked increase in the number of red blood cells that circulate in the blood. Its cause is unknown.

It is a disease of middle age and seems to affect males more frequently than females.

Treatment with radioactive phosphorus is now used in addition to the established methods of phlebotomy, or bloodletting.

A Choice To Make

If you don't believe in the existence of something, isn't it a pretty wasteful, not to say silly, business to let most of your waking hours be dominated by non-something or nothing?

I am moved to ask this question by the persistence of the more compulsive types of atheists to make their non-belief prevail. They insist there is a great hollow, a void, at the back of the universe. I don't contest their rights to do this. But their whole lives seem to be conditioned by that void. They buttonhole you to prove that there's nothing there. They get obstreperous about it. The non-something even fills their dreams. And so this life, which is all that they believe exists, runs out on them, and they die without having had the time to enjoy the sensuous things that they can see, taste, smell and touch.

Mrs. Madalyn Murray of Baltimore, Maryland, who brought the suit to have even voluntary prayers eliminated from the public school attended by her son Bill, is the latest example of the person willing to be dominated by a non-something. Some four years ago she started to spend most of her free time fighting for her non-belief. Her battle against the Baltimore school system absorbed her energies. Because she was vocal, wasting other people's time, the people she annoyed struck back at her. Her automobile tires were cut, her flower beds were ripped up, and her son Bill found himself involved in a continual round of fist fights. All very reprehensible, but she went out of her way to invite it.

Now, having won her case before the Supreme Court, Mrs. Murray has filed incorporation papers setting up an organization for people who want to let their lives be dominated by a non-something. She hopes to establish a center for atheists on the plains of Kansas. There, with nobody to bother them, they can bow all day to the void.

I find this all very singular. I know lots of atheists and agnostics who, if you ask them, make no bones about stating their non-beliefs. Nobody troubles them, for they do not wax obstreperous if you disagree with them. They are live-and-let-live people, and they find time to enjoy the world around them. Their lives are not dominated by a non-something.

This business of letting your waking hours be conditioned by a void is all very Nineteenth Century. Karl Marx, the founder of Communism, was among the first to waste his hours trying to prove that religion was the opium of the people. Most of the people, whether they were Christians, atheists or agnostics, yawned and went about enjoying their religious observances on the one hand, or their beer and light opera on the other.

While Europe had its Marx, America had its Robert — or Royal Bob — Ingersoll. He was an entrancing figure, a lawyer, politician and Civil War colonel. He didn't let the whole of his life be dominated by a non-something. Even so, he campaigned vigorously for his non-belief. He was a part-time compulsive.

People in the Nineteenth Century disagreed with Marx and Ingersoll. But even in those days an atheist had to be pretty obstreperous to invite reprisals. Village atheists were laughed at and tolerated in most communities. Percy Bysshe Shelley got into trouble at college because of his professed non-belief. But nobody stopped him from writing his poetry.

Max Eastman, a former radical who has lost his faith in Marxian economics and politics, still thinks that Karl Marx was right about the non-something, the void. But Max Eastman, now in his eighties, believes in spending his time enjoying the things he can see, smell and touch. He lives for hours on the beach close to his home on Martha's Vineyard Island, worshipping the sun, the surf, and the aroma of his big cigar. He thinks Marx was a kook to have wasted his time being compulsive about the non-something that is described in Archibald MacLeish's sonnet about "nothing, nothing, nothing, nothing at all."

Nobody bothers Max Eastman. Nobody would have bothered Mrs. Murray's son Bill if he had simply non-said his non-prayers while others were praying. If the void is there, it's there; if there is a God, there is a God. The U.S. state and social order lets you take your choice.

Survey Shows Tax Collections Bring Gripes All over World

NEW YORK (AP)—If you see red when you think how much the tax collectors get from your pay, take consolation. Millions of other persons around the world share your feelings.

An Associated Press survey showed that in four of six world centers, families of modest incomes pay 13 to 20 per cent of their incomes in taxes.

In the higher pay brackets, the tax percentages range from 45 to 77 per cent.

An imaginary bus driver and a $100,000-a-year man were selected in each location each with a wife and two children. Because of the complexity of various tax structures, estimates had to be used on a number of points.

An average bus driver in New York earns $5,824, more than double the pay of drivers in other cities.

But he pays $568 in federal income tax and $603 in other taxes, totaling 20 per cent of his pay.

The average bus driver in Frankfurt, on an income of $2,460, hands over 17 per cent—income tax of $120 and other taxes of $297.

The London bus driver has 14 per cent taken out of his $2,080 wage. His income tax is only $5.35. But other taxes total $289.

In Paris, the bus driver's wage comes to $1,872, but under the country's regulations he also gets a family allowance of $348 from his employer.

The wage figure exempts the man from income taxes. His indirect taxes amount to $290 or 13 per cent.

Of $1,547 in pay, the Tokyo bus driver pays 8 per cent in taxes—$59 for income tax and $64 for others.

And in Rio de Janeiro, the driver makes $1,270, but his tax bill is the lowest of all—6 per cent. His income tax is $10 and other taxes amount to $70.

The comparison in taxes for the $100,000-a-year man moves Rio de Janeiro from the lowest spot to

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three new trustees of Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, were appointed today by Gov. James A. Rhodes. They are:

William Beckett, 35, Orchard Dr., Hamilton, for a term ending March 1, 1967. Beckett is president of the Beckett Paper Co., Hamilton.

Lawrence B. Murphy, 188 Mt. Pleasant Ave., Wyoming, a Cincinnati suburb, for a term ending March 1, 1969. Murphy is president of the Williamson Heater Co., Cincinnati.

Logan T. Johnston, 2705 McGee Ave., Middletown, for a term ending March 1, 1972. McGee is president of Armco Steel Corp., Middletown.

All three appointments for initial terms begin Sept. 20. They are provided for in the new board of regents law. The appointments are subject to Ohio Senate confirmation.

one of the highest. More than 65 per cent of the Rio man's earnings go to the tax collector.

His federal income tax alone comes to 65 per cent. An approximate figure for his other taxes could not be determined.

In the United States, personal income of workers totaled $440 billion last year. They paid out $128 billion in various taxes.

The Tax Foundation, a non-profit organization, estimates that U.S. federal taxes in 1962 amounted to $549 per person, compared with $1.92 in 1900.

Chamber Officials Okay Levy Support

Officers and directors of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce, meeting in regular monthly session yesterday, moved to support the Berger Hospital expansion and improvement levy.

Outlining the hospital levy, due for a special vote in the county on Sept. 24, were Laurence Priest and Wendell Emerine of the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce. The local Jaycees have undertaken steps to promote the levy as a community project.

The 1½ mill levy, defeated in last November election, would run for five years. The proposal, if accepted by the voting public, would provide for a new bedroom wing; new surgery, x-ray, laboratory and emergency quarters, boiler and mechanical facilities additions and eventual reconditioning of some present quarters.

Priest commented on several of the current expansion and improvement needs that now exist at Berger. He said an affirmative vote will lead to the future erection of an adequate hospital that will be able to meet the community's obligation to provide sufficient medical facilities.

Mill in State Pen Is Damaged by Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Penitentiary authorities say a spark from a welding torch caused the fire which did minor damage in the woolen mill Tuesday. The spark ignited lint in a ventilator on the third floor of the mill.

Inmate firemen had the blaze under control by the time city firemen arrived. Only damage was to raw materials used in making blankets.

Red Chinese Data Confirm Near-Revolt

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S. State Department's publication of documents telling of unrest and near revolt in Red China's army in 1960-61 confirms what the Chinese themselves have hinted — there was major trouble.

The documents also substantiate outside assessments of what the shakeups and changes of that time and earlier meant.

The beginning of the Red army disaffection dates from 1958, when party chairman Mao Tze-tung, boss of Red China, launched a speeded up industrial and agricultural program to bring peasants into a vast network of rural communes.

Mao took the drastic step against the advice of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Marshal Peng Teh-huai, defense minister recognized that Mao's dispute with Khrushchev could lead to withdrawal of Soviet help to the Chinese army. Peng opposed Mao's plan and was reported to have communicated his views to Khrushchev.

He was dismissed in September 1959 and his name has not been mentioned by the Chinese since.

Gen. Hsiang Ko-rheng, Peng's army chief of staff, was fired at the same time. His disgrace was completed in September 1962 when he was fired from the secretariat of the Communist party Central Committee along with Gen. Tan Cheng, head of the army's chief political department.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

TAX BILL: The House Ways and Means Committee has recommended giving a tax break to persons with roller-coaster incomes, such as authors, entertainers, professional athletes and lawyers.

Polishing and fitting together the pieces of the tax cut and revision legislation, the committee

Tuesday spelled out a provision to give special consideration to a taxpayer whose income shoots up in one year more than a third above his average for the previous four years.

Now, such an increase would put the taxpayer in a substantially higher bracket.

U.S.-HUNGARY: U.S. and Hungarian officials are conferring in Budapest on problems blocking normal diplomatic relations between the United States and that Communist country.

The two nations have exchanged only token diplomatic representation since Soviet tanks crushed Hungary's 1956 revolt.

Richard I. Phillips, State Department press officer, acknowledged Tuesday the talks are under way but said "it would not be helpful" to discuss them publicly.

PUBLIC DEFENDER: The Senate has approved a bill to provide paid counsel for defendants in federal criminal cases who are unable to pay for their own defense.

The bill, urged by President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, now goes to the House.

The Senate has passed public defender bills in previous Congresses only to have them die in the House.

Flower Show Is Highlight Of Homecoming Celebration

One of the most popular features of the annual Commercial Point Homecoming celebration is the flower show. This year was no exception, according to Mrs. Florence Haughn, garden club president and flower show chairman.

All exhibits proved that flowers do thrive despite dry weather. There were the usual number of entries, all of outstanding horticultural quality.

Winning the best of show rosette was Mrs. Joyce Hamilton of Grove City, who is a member of the Terra Garden Club. Her entry took a blue ribbon in the class entitled "Western States".

According to the judge, Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner, the composition was not only distinctive but showed considerable originality.

Winners in the flower show were: zinnia (dahlia flowered) 1. Judy Suttles. 2. Esther Null. 3. Roberta Hedges.

Zinnias (small flowered) 1. Russell Darnell. 2. Judy Suttles. 3. Thelma Grossman.

Marigolds (large) 1. Thelma Grossman. 2. Roberta Hedges. 3. Christina Beers.

Gladioli (white) 1. Anna Maupin. 2. Russell Darnell. 3. Sue Ellen Brackett.

Gladioli (five spikes) 1. Christina Beers. 2. Jane Gulick. 3. Carl Gulick.

Tea Roses 1. Roberta Hedges. 2. Anna Maupin. 3. Dorene Thrasher.

Floribunda Roses 1. Roberta Hedges.

Dahlias (large) 1. Thelma Grossman. 2. Anna Maupin. 3. Eileen Goldhardt.

Junior Specimens — Zinnias (large) 1. Janice Grossman. 2. Leslie Fyffe. 3. Sandy Augenstein.

Zinnias (small) Barbara Alloy. 2. Janice Grossman. 3. Sandy Augenstein.

Marigolds (large) 1. Janice Grossman. 2. Jean Gulick.

Artistic division: "The New England States" 1. Virginia Everett. 2. Sara Janet DeVoss. 3. Joyce Hamilton.

"Central States" — 1. Virginia Everett. 2. Anna Maupin. 3. Karen Augenstein.

"Northwest States" — 1. Karen Augenstein. 2. Jan Covault. 3. Roberta Hedges.

"Alaska" — 1. Anna Maupin. 2. Virginia Everett. 3. Roberta Hedges.

"Hawaii" — 1. Virginia Everett. 2. Sara Lee DeVoss. 3. Roberta Hedges.

"Mexico" — 1. Anna Maupin. 2. Sara Janet DeVoss. 3. Virginia Everett.

"Western States" — 1. Joyce Hamilton. 2. Marilyn May. 3. Jan Covault.

"Southern States" — 1. Roberta Hedges. 2. Anna Maupin. 3. Marilyn May.

Junior artistic division: "Disneyland" — 1. Linda Hamilton. 2. Janice Grossman. 3. Sandy Augenstein.

"Rodeo" — 1. Leslie Everett. 2. Sandy Augenstein. 3. Janice Grossman.

The type of children's clothes known as "basics" have now climbed up into the first fashion ranks, which makes sense, of course.

Most youngsters are just as hard on their dress-up clothes as they are on their tree-climbing outfits and apparently this fact has dawned on the designers of clothes for the young.

So the good old washing machine reliables, such as duck, denim and seersucker, are now demonstrating how handsome they can be.

So far as little girls are concerned, this might well be called the "skimmy summer" for their fashions. The unshaped, easy silhouette known as the "skimmy" will go to parties and also substitute for T-shirts and Bermudas. In other words, it is everywhere for any occasion.

The dressiest skimmies have tucks, pleats and flounces without being overdone, while the sand-box wardrobes use contrasting colors and appliques for that always desirable pretty look.

If you shop smartly, and with a discerning eye, you can get clothes that dispense with all ironing. But even if you decide that a smidgen of ironing is not too high a price to pay for a little garment you particularly like, at least the skimmy is the easiest type of garment to press.

New beach togs for the youngsters may fatten the laundry loads, but they are certainly not laundry problems, because the suits and matching cover-ups are machine-washables and usually also no-irons.

Be prepared for these additional beach coats and coverups, for the very young fashion plate is expected to wear them.

Monrovia GC Members Hold Annual Picnic

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith extended the hospitality of their home to members of the Monrovia Garden Club Monday evening for their annual picnic and family night. A picnic dinner was enjoyed.

Mrs. Clyde Michel, president, conducted a short business session. Mrs. John O'Day opened the meeting with a piano solo. Mrs. Clark McCafferty, secretary, reported and 14 members answered roll call with, "What I do; when I do as I please." A thank you note was read from Mrs. Yvette Beckett for the bon voyage gift. She is now visiting in France.

Plans were completed for the picnic to be held at the Pickaway County Childrens Home at 6 p. m. Aug. 18. Mrs. Clyde Michel, Mrs. Charles Fleming and Mrs. John O'Day were named on the entertaining committee for the evening.

Mrs. Herman Porter reported on the Flower Show held at the Fair and suggestions were made for the garden to be displayed at the State Fair. Mrs. Harry Smith made some lovely arrangements for the picnic tables.

The next meeting will be held 8 p. m. Sept. 9 in the home of Mrs. Shirley Anderson with Mrs. Harry Dick as assisting hostess.

Venita Rhymer Honored on 16th Birthday

Venita Rhymer was guest of honor on her sixteenth birthday at a party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rhymer, Stoutsville.

Games and contests were conducted and prizes were awarded to Gary Hartley, James Rhymer, Patty Keller, Carolyn Harrison, Barbara Jenkins, Buddy Strehle and Don Sharp.

After Miss Rhymer opened her gifts refreshments were served. Others attending were: Paul Spung, Ruth Spung, Jim Lands, Jean Liest, Barbara Courtright, Larry Sykes, Leewood and Jeffrey Rhymer, Debra Brungs, Mrs. May Rhymer and Mrs. Tillie Morrison.

A gift was sent by Larry Hartley.

Leftover pastry dough makes excellent snack tidbits. Roll it into a thin sheet, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon, or butter creamed with brown sugar and chopped nuts, or grated cheese, roll like a jelly roll and slice thin. Bake about 10 minutes at 400 degrees.

Kitchen trick: candied ginger is difficult to cut, so rinse it in hot water before applying the knife.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Don't Fight It, Mom!

DEAR ABBY: Our son, married only four years, phoned us yesterday to say his wife never wanted to see us or hear from us again. The reason: She doesn't like my loud laughter or "affectionate ways". My son says his first duty is to his wife. Must a son forsake his parents to prove his love for his wife? Last Mother's Day I broke down in a flood of tears because there was no card or call from them. Dad tried to console me but on Father's Day he cried like a baby because he was forgotten, too. They have two darling babies which they always take to see the other grandparents. They never come to us. Have other parents gone through this? Must we forget our son or what?

HURT PARENTS
DEAR HURT: Yes, many other parents have "gone through this". You can't force your love on your son or on his wife, and you shouldn't try. The immature and embittered daughter-in-law is your son's problem. Best that you ignore both of them until he shows what he can, or will do—if anything.

DEAR ABBY: When a man proposes to you, cold sober, and then doesn't do anything about it, can he be sued for breach of promise? Do I need witnesses? If so, how many? Please don't tell me to see a lawyer—he is one. Thank you.

JILTED
DEAR JILTED: See ANOTHER lawyer. This time for professional reasons.

DEAR ABBY: I am 68 and Albert is 76, and we have been married 51 years. I have never had any trouble with him until just lately. There is this young, good-looking blonde-headed neighbor woman across the alley and she can't be over 25. She takes sun baths in her back yard every morning, and my Old Man has suddenly decided he is going to go in our back yard and pull weeds. There ARE no weeds, and if there were he'd ask me to pull them because he's got a bum back. I don't want him to think I am jealous, so I haven't said anything to him. Maybe I should. What do you think?

WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: Don't worry. It takes two to tango. Besides, if Albert's back is too "bum" for weeding he's not about to tango.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DALLAS GIRL": Your problem is neither as serious nor as unusual as you imagine it to be. Many married women wonder about the same thing. I urge you to discuss it frankly with your family doctor.

Miss Collins Honored with Bridal Shower

Miss Darlene Collins, bride elect of Mr. Melvin McNeal, was honored with a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Pat Davis and Rose Helen Martin.

Games were played and prize winners were Miss Sue Rodgers and Mrs. Pat Herron. A dessert course was served.

Others attending were Mrs. Ada Collins, Mrs. Mary McNeal, Mrs. Bess Ebert, Mrs. Matalene Metcalf, Mrs. Betty Wickert, Mrs. Margaret VanGundy, Mrs. Ellen Stant, Miss Brenda Stant, Mrs. Robert Ebert, Mrs. Bonnie Woods and Miss Charlene Arledge.

Gifts were sent by Mrs. Ruth Ramey, Mrs. Linda Humphrey, Mrs. Lucille Cupp, Mrs. Gerald Ebert, Mrs. Marlene Tisdale, Mrs. Mike Morgan and Mrs. Mildred Caldwell.

Orange segments, bananas and all sorts of berries are delightful served — each fruit by itself or all together — with soft custard sauce. But here's something un-expect: honeydew or cantaloupe balls also take to custard sauce if they are coupled with one of the above fruits.

When you're making French dressing for sliced tomatoes, try using tarragon vinegar with the salad oil.

UP A TREE—They dropped 8,122 men near Joanna, S. C., in "Swift Strike III" maneuvers, but this one didn't quite make it all the way down at first. "Swift Strike" is the biggest peacetime maneuvers yet.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Cloudy skies accompanied by showers and thundershowers covered all of Ohio Tuesday night.

Temperatures at daybreak from 61 at Youngstown to 71 at Cincinnati. Columbus, Chesapeake Cleveland and Findlay had 66.

The morning weather map shows a small low pressure area centered over Southern Indiana with an associated stationary front running east-west through the central portions of the United States.

Cold front is located from the lower Great Lakes area westward into the northern Plains States and is running into a low in the northern Rocky Mountain area.

The outlook for weather is for generally cloudy weather with showers ending Thursday.

Dayton Prosecutor Plans To Appeal Case

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Montgomery County prosecutor's office, a loser before the 2nd District Court of Appeals Tuesday, indicated it would ask the Ohio Supreme Court to overturn the finding that condemned killer James Mike Gilkerson is entitled to a new trial.

The appellate court refused to reconsider its earlier decision calling for a new trial for Gilkerson, 43. Convicted of first-degree murder in July 1962 for the 1961 slaying of his wife, Gilkerson originally was scheduled to be executed last April 22.

Growing Foreign Understanding Seen Of America's Racial Discrimination

EDITOR'S NOTE — America's racial crisis has damaged the nation's image among emerging nations of Africa and Asia and diluted the idea that the United States is a leader of world freedom. Yet there is a growing understanding of the problem, not only among our allies, but among some U.N. diplomats who have experienced racial discrimination first hand. Eighth article in a special Associated Press series on integration.

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Few events in the United States have commanded such wide attention abroad as the developing crisis over integration. The impact of the violent and dramatic conflicts at Little Rock, Oxford, Miss.; Birmingham; Cambridge, S. A.; Philadelphia, and New York City, has been tremendous.

U. S. policy makers acknowledge they are concerned over possible repercussions in the non-white nations of Asia and Africa. How much damage, they ask, have recent events done to the U.S. image as a champion of human rights? Have these events had any discernible effect on the relations between the United States and other countries?

U. S. officials disagree on the extent of the damage, but influential leaders such as Secretary of State Dean Rusk and U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson believe the United States definitely is being hurt abroad by the racial conflict.

The situation is complicated by several factors likely to make some countries more sensitive to U.S. events:

The independence explosion which has brought to the world scene in the past decade a large contingent of new nations whose people had been under the white man's rule for generations. In many cases there were strong racial resentments.

The personal experience of many Asian and African visitors, especially diplomats, who came face to face with racial discrimination in the United States and were left with a bitter taste. Rusk resorted scores of such incidents in the past two years.

The preoccupation of the African and Asian countries with the Apartheid (racial segregation) policies of South Africa. This not only makes them more conscious of the developments in the United States, but it renders it difficult for the United States to form its own independent policies on South Africa and related world problems.

Communist efforts to exploit the U.S. racial problem with the aim of discrediting the United States in the eyes of Asians and Africans.

Rusk told a congressional committee recently that the Communists regard racial discrimination "as one of their most valuable assets." He warned that unless Congress acts to remove discriminatory practices "hostile propaganda might be expected to hurt us more than it has hurt us until now."

Stevenson says he finds U. N. diplomats generally tolerant and understanding, but even they have been "shocked by what they have seen and heard in recent months."

Ralph J. Bunche, American Negro who is an undersecretary of the United Nations, says "repressions" of the Negro have hurt the United States "because the basic image of the United States is that of a Democratic nation leading the cause of world freedom."

During the summit meeting of African leaders in Addis Ababa, the U. S. racial crisis was widely discussed. Milton Obote, prime minister of Uganda, said: "The key to the successful projection of the United States image in Africa lies more in a solution of the Negro problem than in foreign aid."

The Ethiopian Herald was more critical. It referred to the U.S. government's "half-hearted willingness" to act against discrimination and said:

"The United States is campaigning on a free world slogan and is condemning the racist government of South Africa while practicing its own version of Apartheid. What happened in Birmingham showed the United States in its true light."

No African leader has sought publicly to put the United States in the category with South Africa, which has been hailed before the United Nations repeatedly because of its official policy of racial segregation.

The London Daily Telegraph pointed out the distinction. In the United States, it said, "The Law is on the black man's side" while "the inferiority of the black man was written into the constitution of the South African Union."

Rusk says the Communists have used four main themes in exploiting U.S. racial tensions:

1. Racism is inevitable under American capitalism.
2. Inaction by the government is tantamount to the support of the "racists."
3. Racial incidents have exposed the "hypocrisy" of U.S. claims to world leadership.
4. The attitude toward Negroes in the United States is indicative of the attitude toward colored peoples everywhere.

In the United Nations a few weeks ago, Soviet delegate Platon D. Morozov told a committee the "unbridled racism" in the United States has proved there is "no moral basis" to claims that the United States is the defender of human rights in the world. This theme has been stressed in the Soviet press.

There is no evidence so far that the Soviet campaign has driven a wedge between the United States and other friendly countries.

Discrimination in housing and restaurants, however, continues to cause ill-feeling both in Washington and New York where large numbers of nonwhite diplomats are concentrated.

One African diplomat, Ambassador Gershon B. O. Collier of Sierra Leone, put it this way:

"Your American Negroes understand this kind of prejudice and are used to it. We are not."

Boat Completed But Exit Fades

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y. (AP) — Rene V. Thuilliez has a large problem on his hands — how to get a 48-foot boat out of his 48 foot backyard.

When he started building the yacht four years ago he planned to trailer it out through a neighbor's driveway. But new owners have since taken over the next door property and added an extension to their house, blocking his proposed exit. Thuilliez is considering tearing down his own garage to get out the boat.

ATLAS BOOSTER TRUCKED FROM CALIFORNIA TO OHIO—A 55-foot long Atlas booster, the first stage of the Centaur space vehicle, arrives at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Plum Brook Station in Sandusky, O., from California. The booster, facing a series of ground tests, was trucked the 2,500 miles from the San Diego General Dynamics/Astronautics plant.

Growing Foreign Understanding Seen Of America's Racial Discrimination

EDITOR'S NOTE — America's racial crisis has damaged the nation's image among emerging nations of Africa and Asia and diluted the idea that the United States is a leader of world freedom. Yet there is a growing understanding of the problem, not only among our allies, but among some U.N. diplomats who have experienced racial discrimination first hand. Eighth article in a special Associated Press series on integration.

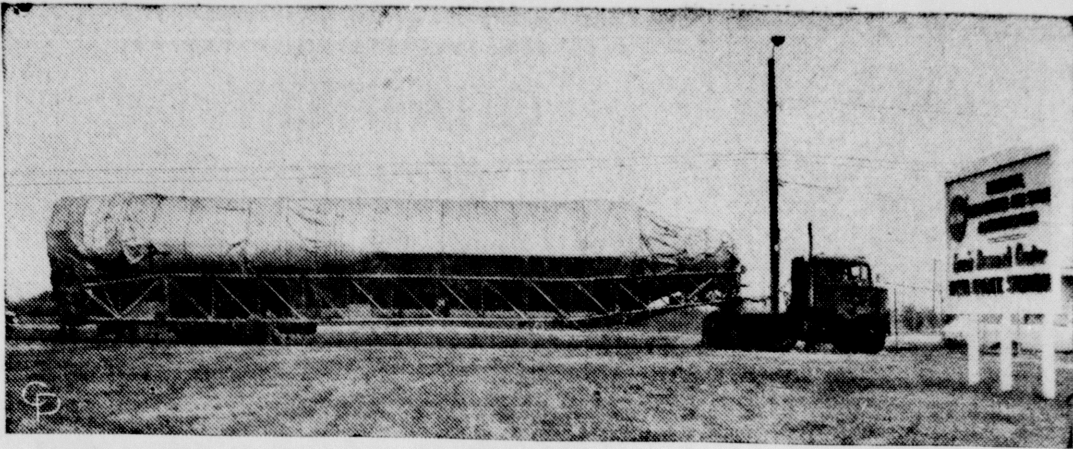

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Few events in the United States have commanded such wide attention abroad as the developing crisis over integration.
The impact of the violent and dramatic conflicts at Little Rock, Oxford, Miss.; Birmingham; Cambridge, S. a v a n n a h; Philadelphia, and New York City, has been tremendous.
U. S. policy makers acknowledge they are concerned over possible repercussions in the non-white nations of Asia and Africa. How much damage, they ask, have recent events done to the U.S. image as a champion of human rights? Have these events had any discernible effect on the relations between the United States and other countries?
U. S. officials disagree on the extent of the damage, but influential leaders such as Secretary of State Dean Rusk and U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson believe the United States definitely is being hurt abroad by the racial conflict.
The situation is complicated by several factors likely to make some countries more sensitive to U.S. events:
The independence explosion which has brought to the world scene in the past decade a large contingent of new nations whose people had been under the white man's rule for generations. In many cases there were strong racial resentments.
The personal experience of many Asian and African visitors, especially diplomats, who came face to face with racial discrimination in the United States and were left with a bitter taste. Rusk resorted scores of such incidents in the past two years.
The preoccupation of the African and Asian countries with the Apartheid (racial segregation) policies of South Africa. This not only makes them more conscious of the developments in the United States, but it renders it difficult for the United States to form its own independent policies on South Africa and related world problems.
Communist efforts to exploit the U.S. racial problem with the aim of discrediting the United States in the eyes of Asians and Africans.
Rusk told a congressional committee recently that the Communists regard racial discrimination "as one of their most valuable assets." He warned that unless Congress acts to remove discriminatory practices "hostile propaganda might be expected to hurt us more than it has hurt us until now."
Stevenson says he finds U. N. diplomats generally tolerant and understanding, but even they have been "shocked by what they have seen and heard in recent months." Ralph J. Bunche, American Negro who is an undersecretary of the United Nations, says "repressions" of the Negro have hurt the United States "because the basic image of the United States is that of a Democratic nation leading the cause of world freedom."

During the summit meeting of African leaders in Addis Ababa, the U. S. racial crisis was widely discussed. Milton Obote, prime minister of Uganda, said: "The key to the successful projection of the United States image in Africa lies more in a solution of the Negro problem than in foreign aid."

Ex-Medina City Aide Faces Charge

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Bertha Danes Simeone, a former clerk in the city water department, has been charged with embezzlement of department funds, Assistant County Prosecutor Jack Kinney disclosed today.

A warrant for her arrest has been sent by Sheriff Steve Helli to the sheriff's department in Macomb County Michigan, where she now lives. It charges her with embezzlement of $6,023, Kinney said.

Mrs. Simeone will appear in Medina Municipal Court for a preliminary hearing if she waives extradition.

A state examiner reported last week that he had found a shortage of $6,023 in water department funds handled by Mrs. Simeone. The report said the shortages occurred from March through September 1960.

Mrs. Simeone has denied converting any of the missing funds to her own use. She quit her job with the water department in September 1960.

School Faces Suspension of Ohio Charter

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A hearing will resume here Thursday on action to suspend the charter of Framington High School in Trumbull County for alleged failure to meet state standards.

The hearing got under way Monday with testimony by Dr. E. E. Holt, superintendent of public instruction; Glenn W. Rich, director of the Division of Elementary and Secondary Education, and Doyle Schumaker, a division supervisor.

William Carroll, Columbus attorney and former assistant attorney general presided as referee at the opening session in the State Office Building.

Framington stands accused of more than a dozen violations, officials said. Other schools in that area facing charter revocation are Bristol Rural, Southington Local and Bloomfield local. Bloomfield did not request a hearing.

John W. Leibold, Education Department attorney, said Bristol probably would be next in line for hearing after the Framington case ends.

WHAT HAPPENED TO ILLINOIS FAMILY?—The sumptuous home of the John R. Harrell family stands idle in a field of weeds in Louisville, Ill., as the mystery of the family's disappearance early this summer deepens. The Harrell auto was found empty on an Illinois highway near Springfield. Gone were Harrell, his wife and five of their six children. An infant son left with a woman in Louisville now has vanished, along with the woman. It is the guess of authorities that Harrell is hiding his family deep in the Ozarks from enemies he made in his one-man religious war against Communism. (Central Press)

Many U.S. Schools Planning To Retain Religion in Class

By GEORGE CORNELL, AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—One way or another, many of the nation's schools plan to preserve a classroom religious note despite the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision banning prescribed devotional exercises.

In some communities such observances were being dropped. However, they avowedly were being retained in other places.

The varied reactions were turned up in a cross-country check by The Associated Press.

Some schools plan to modify customs with the idea of getting around any head-on collision with the court ruling. But others indicated prayers and Bible reading would go on as usual.

In some cases there was a ring of defiance.

"We don't care what the Supreme Court says," commented Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

He added daily Bible readings, without comment will continue in all public schools as required under state law.

However, a proposal was being weighed to classify the practice as a course of study, rather than an extracurricular exercise.

In some states, with similar laws, the approach was simply to allow past procedures to continue by local initiative.

Georgia's school superintendent, Dr. Claude Purcell, said the court seems merely to have put chapel exercises on a voluntary basis, adding: "If the schools want to include a reading of some sort, this would be up to them."

In Idaho, where state law also has required daily Bible readings without comment, D. F. Enkeling, state superintendent of public instruction, said: "I see no reason to change our procedure on the basis of what has happened up to now. Unless some court tells me otherwise, I plan to advise public school districts to continue to use the same procedure."

In some states where Bible reading, prayers, or both have been required, state authorities have issued rulings against the practice resulting in various alternatives in some communities.

In some states, without specific laws on the matter, the view was simply to let past school practices continue, including prayer and Bible reading, if that is the custom.

"We will go on having Bible readings and prayers in the schools of this state just as we always have," said North Carolina's Gov. Terry Sanford.

Although the court ruled only against prescribed devotionals, an outstanding question seemed to be whether local school boards or even a teacher, in setting such devotionals, did so as an arm of government?

Or were such teacher-initiated exercises voluntary? Some legal experts say no. Yet many school boards are taking the position that locally ordered school religious exercises are not in the mandatory category.

In 26 states, principally in the East and South, state regulations have required or permitted Bible reading and often the Lord's Prayer in schools. Ten states, mostly in the West, prohibit such practice.

The other 14 states have no laws on the books about it. Surveys have indicated that about 50 per cent of the nation's schools have included such devotionals, either under state law or without regulations on the matter.

Such practices have been required in the District of Columbia and 11 states: Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Maine, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Tennessee.

In New Jersey, State Atty. Gen. Arthur J. Sills issued a ruling that the law requiring the devotional observances is void, but the state has met with scattered challenges on the local level.

In Massachusetts, State Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke also handed down an opinion voiding the state law requiring Bible devotionals. This action, too, has met with various countermeasures.

In Arkansas, Education Commissioner Arch Ford says he knows of no action taken in response to the court decision. However, a state judiciary committee was considering a proposal by a Baptist minister for a study seeking means for continued legal use of the Bible and prayers in classrooms.

State Examiner Issues Rap Against Township Officials

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state examiner's report submitted to State Auditor Roger W. Tracy has listed findings for recovery of $7,102.04 against trustees and a former clerk-treasurer of Howland Township in Trumbull County.

The report carried sharp criticism for the officials involved. It covered a period from Nov. 16, 1959, through March 21, 1963, and cited the clerk and former zoning inspector, Glesner Griffin, for alleged irregularities involving $5,906.45 of the total findings.

This included overdrawn compensation of $4,390.03, together with unaccounted fees collected totaling $1,275, false bills totaling $224.72 and $16.70 for private telephone calls, the examiner's report said.

Griffin, on March 26, 1963, the report said, advised the examiner that he had deposited $5,500 to the account of the trustees "because of an inadvertent overdraw of that amount" and on the following day, submitted his resignation as clerk-treasurer.

The examiner, commenting upon the overdraw of his salary during the period of the examination, said in part:

"These overpayments cannot be explained as errors. The board of township trustees as the encumbering agents are equally responsible with the township clerk for allowing him to deliberately overdraw his compensation... as they must approve the vouchers and countersign the warrants."

A previous report, the examiner said, had disclosed the clerk had overdrawn his salary in 1959, and added that the clerk immediately refunded the money. "But when the audit was completed," the examiner said, "the clerk again drew a warrant for $200 and continue to overdraw his compensation for the subsequent years."

The state report said other unaccounted funds included collections for sale of two cemetery lots in 1961 and $1,100 collected by Griffin for zoning permits, grave openings and cemetery lot sales from September 1960 through October 1962. False bills submitted by Griffin also found that Griffin had collected $4.72 for two nights lodging at a Toledo hotel during a summer convention but a check with the hotel failed to confirm him as a guest during the two days reported.

A copy of the report was turned over to the Trumbull County prosecutor.

Ex-Medina City Aide Faces Charge

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Bertha Danes Simeone, a former clerk in the city water department, has been charged with embezzlement of department funds, Assistant County Prosecutor Jack Kinney disclosed today.

A warrant for her arrest has been sent by Sheriff Steve Helli to the sheriff's department in Macomb County Michigan, where she now lives. It charges her with embezzlement of $6,023, Kinney said.

Mrs. Simeone will appear in Medina Municipal Court for a preliminary hearing if she waives extradition.

A state examiner reported last week that he had found a shortage of $6,023 in water department funds handled by Mrs. Simeone. The report said the shortages occurred from March through September 1960.

Mrs. Simeone has denied converting any of the missing funds to her own use. She quit her job with the water department in September 1960.

WHAT HAPPENED TO ILLINOIS FAMILY?—The sumptuous home of the John R. Harrell family stands idle in a field of weeds in Louisville, Ill., as the mystery of the family's disappearance early this summer deepens. The Harrell auto was found empty on an Illinois highway near Springfield. Gone were Harrell, his wife and five of their six children. An infant son left with a woman in Louisville now has vanished, along with the woman. It is the guess of authorities that Harrell is hiding his family deep in the Ozarks from enemies he made in his one-man religious war against Communism. (Central Press)

Many U.S. Schools Planning To Retain Religion in Class

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—One way or another, many of the nation's schools plan to preserve a classroom religious note despite the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision banning prescribed devotional exercises.

In some communities such observances were being dropped. However, they avowedly were being retained in other places.

The varied reactions were turned up in a cross-country check by The Associated Press.

Some schools plan to modify customs with the idea of getting around any head-on collision with the court ruling. But others indicated prayers and Bible reading would go on as usual.

In some cases there was a ring of defiance. "We don't care what the Supreme Court says," commented Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

He added daily Bible readings without comment will continue in all public schools as required under state law.

However, a proposal was being weighed to classify the practice as a course of study, rather than an extracurricular exercise.

In some states, with similar laws, the approach was simply to allow past procedures to continue by local initiative.

Georgia's school superintendent, Dr. Claude Purcell, said the court seems merely to have put chapel exercises on a voluntary basis, adding: "If the schools want to include a reading of some sort, this would be up to them."

In Idaho, where state law also has required daily Bible readings without comment, D. F. Engelking, state superintendent of public instruction, said: "I see no reason to change our procedure on the basis of what has happened up to now. Unless some court tells me otherwise, I plan to advise public school districts to continue to use the same procedure."

In some states where Bible reading, prayers, or both have been required, state authorities have issued rulings against the practice resulting in various alternatives in some communities.

In some states, without specific laws on the matter, the view was simply to let past school practices continue, including prayer and

Second Army Boss Lauds Ohio Guards

CAMP GRAYLING, Mich. (AP)—An energetic commander of the U.S. 2nd Army saw an energetic division of Ohio National Guardsmen in action Tuesday and came away with nothing but praise for the Buckeyes.

Lt. Gen. John S. Upham Jr. flew here Tuesday with his staff for a 24-hour visit with Ohio's 37th Infantry Division. Following a hurried tour of several units, Gen. Upham commented:

"You have a very fine division. You certainly are among the top and you have a right to be proud."

The 37th is in summer camp training.

The 56-year-old commander of Army operations in six states spent much of his time with the 737th Maintenance Battalion of Newark and Zanesville.

The battalion, commanded by Lt. Col. Albert L. Hamm of Newark, is spending the entire two weeks in the field and operates out of modern van trucks. This makes the unit one of the most mobile of the 37th.

"Last year I spent most of my time with the combat units," Gen. Upham said. "And this year I wanted to see some of the support operations."

Besides the maintenance battalion the general and his staff watched infantry squad attack problems, artillery firing and combat arm support operations.

"I'm always impressed when I come up here," Gen. Upham said. Gen. Upham flew to Port Clinton, Ohio, today to view the National Guard rifle matches being conducted at Camp Perry.

Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes is expected to arrive Friday to be guest of honor at the annual review Saturday morning.

Astronauts Get Training On Survival in Desert Area

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Should any of those legendary grizzled desert prospectors run across the nation's nine new astronauts this week he might rub his eyes in wonder and swear to his faithful donkey the Martians have finally landed.

The new astronaut team takes to the desert's blistering days and chilly nights for the rest of the workaday week to prepare for the chance they might some day return from a space flight to the Sahara or Mojave desert.

The astronauts, accompanied by two members of the original Project Mercury space team, arrived at nearby Stead Air Force Base on Monday for a week's classroom and field training. Stead, where regular Air Force pilots learn to live off the land in case they're ever downed in the wilderness, is eight miles north of Reno.

Final classroom sessions were this morning. With the space trainees are Maj. Donald K. Slayton, who didn't make his scheduled space jaunt because of a heart condition, and Maj. L. Gordon Cooper Jr., who holds the nation's earth-circling record with 22 orbits set in May.

Slayton and Cooper sat in on classroom sessions and Slayton indicated he would go into the field northeast of Stead with the new astronauts. Slayton is coordinator of astronaut affairs.

Both took similar desert survival training here as Project Mercury astronauts, but all this country's space flights have ended in water.

The new astronauts are training for the Gemini program with a capsule built for two. A dummy capsule will be used in their field training on the sage-dotted desert, where the sand temperature could reach 130 degrees.

The nights are cool. The low temperature on the base itself Sunday was a chilly 36.

Stead survival experts, who also teach mountain survival in the nearby snow-capped Sierra, will help the astronauts fashion bur-noses—Arabian-type hoods—from parachutes and other gear to prevent the blistering sun from sapping all the moisture from their bodies.

They'll also learn such essential tasks as preserving precious water supplies and how to spot poisonous snakes, spiders and other desert hazards.

The Gemini spacecraft was originally designed to land on earth with skids, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said. There's still a chance the astronauts might come down on land. A desert would provide a good spot to skid to a stop. The astronauts have already had jungle training.

The astronauts shrugged off threats of the heat they'll encounter on the desert. It gets mighty hot and muggy in Texas, site of the Manned Spacecraft Center, they explained.

Hood Ouster Case Dropped In Alabama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—A University of Alabama official said today that information available did not substantiate charges that Negro student James A. Hood made controversial statements about the university and Gov. George C. Wallace.

The statement was made by John A. Caddell, chairman of the University Executive Committee following a meeting of the committee.

The Montgomery Advertiser said Sunday that the university was considering expelling Hood because of statements he allegedly made at a Negro rally in Gadsden, his hometown.

Hood declined to comment other than to say he had "never made any attempt to criticize anyone."

"The news reports referred to a tape recording of the Hood speech, but no such recording was available to the university at the time of the committee meeting," Caddell said.

"Information now available to the university does not substantiate the charges reported. The matter has the continuing attention of university officials."

Hood and another Negro, Vivian Malone of Mobile, enrolled for the summer session of the University after Wallace abandoned his doorway stand when confronted by federalized National Guardsmen.

Second Army Boss Lauds Ohio Guards

CAMP GRAYLING, Mich. (AP)—An energetic commander of the U.S. 2nd Army saw an energetic division of Ohio National Guardsmen in action Tuesday and came away with nothing but praise for the Buckeyes.

Lt. Gen. John S. Upham Jr. flew here Tuesday with his staff for a 24-hour visit with Ohio's 37th Infantry Division. Following a hurried tour of several units, Gen. Upham commented:

"You have a very fine division. You certainly are among the top and you have a right to be proud."

The 37th is in summer camp training.

The 56-year-old commander of Army operations in six states spent much of his time with the 737th Maintenance Battalion of Newark and Zanesville.

The battalion, commanded by Lt. Col. Albert L. Hamm of Newark, is spending the entire two weeks in the field and operates out of modern van trucks. This makes the unit one of the most mobile of the 37th.

"Last year I spent most of my time with the combat units," Gen. Upham said. "And this year I wanted to see some of the support operations."

Besides the maintenance battalion, the general and his staff watched infantry squad attack problems, artillery firing and combat arm support operations.

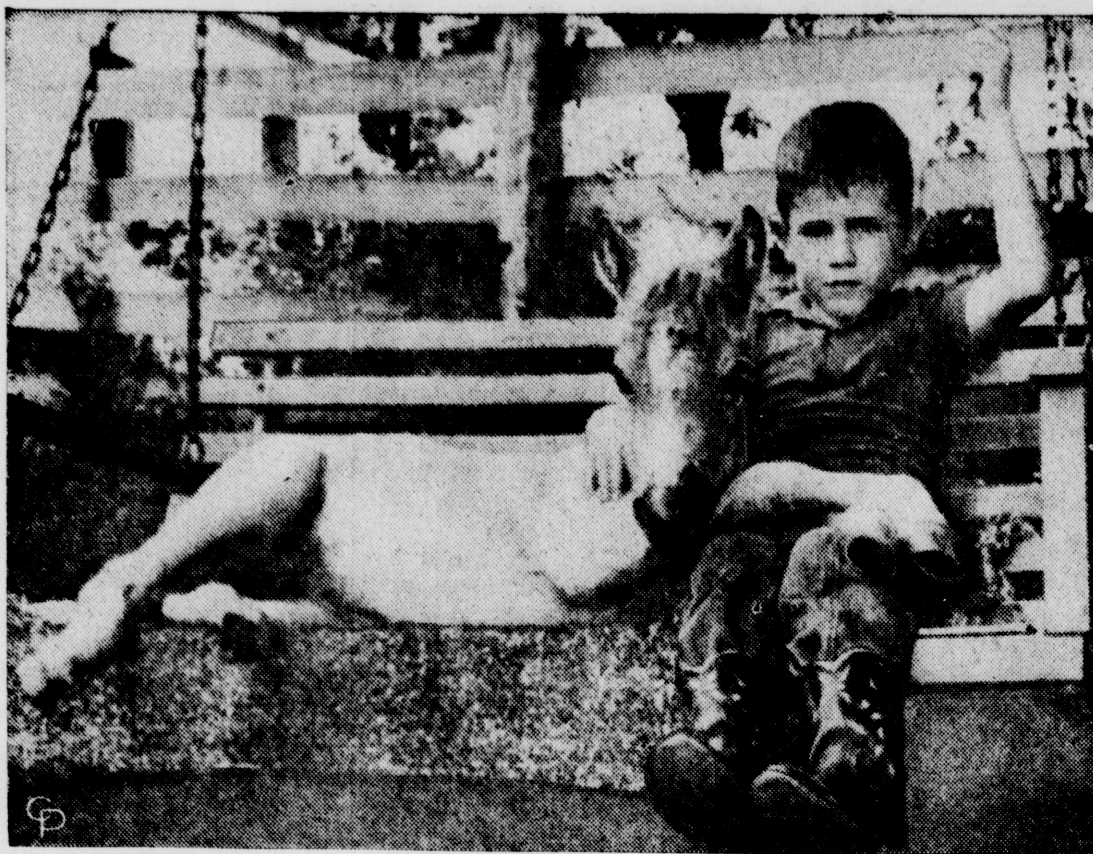

"I'm always impressed when I come up here," Gen. Upham said. Gen. Upham flew to Port Clinton, Ohio, today to view the National Guard rifle matches being conducted at Camp Perry.

Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes is expected to arrive Friday to be guest of honor at the annual review Saturday morning.

Why "Good-Time Charlie" Suffers Uneasy Bladder

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritation—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills. Doan's Pills act 3 ways for speedy relief. 1—They have a soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 16 miles of kidney tubes. Astronauts Get Training On Survival in Desert Area

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Should any of those legendary grizzled desert prospectors run across the nation's nine new astronauts this week he might rub his eyes in wonder and swear to his faithful donkey the Martians have finally landed.

The new astronaut team takes to the desert's blistering days and chilly nights for the rest of the workaday week to prepare for the chance they might some day return from a space flight to the Sahara or Mojave desert.

The astronauts, accompanied by two members of the original Project Mercury space team, arrived at nearby Stead Air Force Base on Monday for a week's classroom and field training. Stead, where regular Air Force pilots learn to live off the land in case they're ever downed in the wilderness, is eight miles north of Reno.

Final classroom sessions were this morning. With the space trainees are Maj. Donald K. Slayton, who didn't make his scheduled space jaunt because of a heart condition, and Maj. L. Gordon Cooper Jr., who holds the nation's earth-circling record with 22 orbits set in May. Slayton and Cooper sat in on classroom sessions and Slayton indicated he would go into the field northeast of Stead with the new astronauts. Slayton is coordinator of astronaut affairs.

Both took similar desert survival training here as Project Mercury astronauts, but all this country's space flights have ended in water.

The new astronauts are training for the Gemini program with a capsule built for two. A dummy capsule will be used in their field training on the sage-dotted desert, where the sand temperature could reach 130 degrees.

The nights are cool. The low

temperature on the base itself Sunday was a chilly 36.

Stead survival experts, who also teach mountain survival in the nearby snow-capped Sierra, will help the astronauts fashion bur-nooses—Arabian-type hoods—from parachutes and other gear to prevent the blistering sun from sapping all the moisture from their bodies.

They'll also learn such essential tasks as preserving precious water supplies and how to spot poisonous snakes, spiders and other desert hazards.

The Gemini spacecraft was originally designed to land on earth with skids, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said. There's still a chance the astronauts might come down on land. A desert would provide a good spot to skid to a stop. The astronauts have already had jungle training.

The astronauts shrugged off threats of the heat they'll encounter on the desert. It gets mighty hot and muggy in Texas, site of the Manned Spacecraft Center, they explained.

Hood Ouster Case Dropped In Alabama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—A University of Alabama official said today that information available did not substantiate charges that Negro student James A. Hood made controversial statements about the university and Gov. George C. Wallace.

The statement was made by John A. Caddell, chairman of the University Executive Committee following a meeting of the committee.

The Montgomery Advertiser said Sunday that the university was considering expelling Hood because of statements he allegedly made at a Negro rally in Gadsden, his hometown.

Hood declined to comment other than to say he had "never made any attempt to criticize anyone."

"The news reports referred to a tape recording of the Hood speech, but no such recording was available to the university at the time of the committee meeting," Caddell said.

"Information now available to the university does not substantiate the charges reported. The matter has the continuing attention of university officials."

Hood and another Negro, Vivian Malone of Mobile, enrolled for the summer session of the University after Wallace abandoned his doorway stand when confronted by federalized National Guardsmen.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 7, the 219th day of 1963. There are 146 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, U.S. Marines landed on Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands to start one of the bitterest campaigns in the Pacific phase of World War II. Not until the following February were Japanese forces sufficiently depleted to make further resistance futile.

On this date

In 1782, George Washington established the Order of the Purple Heart, a decoration for military merit.

In 1819, Colombia won its battle for independence.

In 1914, the French invaded Alsace and Lorraine during World War I.

In 1940, Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Free French forces vowed to continue the battle against Germany to victory.

In 1954, England's Dr. Roger Bannister defeated Australia's John Landy in the mile run in the time of 3:58.8.

Ten years ago... The 16 U.N. nations with fighting forces in Korea joined in warning that they would be united and prompt to resist an armistice-breaking Communist attack in Korea.

Five years ago... Fifteen persons were killed when two tankers collided and caught fire in a fog at the Newport, R.I., harbor.

One year ago... Algerian Premier Ben Khedda's provisional government divested itself of its powers in favor of the political bureau set up by Deputy Premier Ben Bella and his followers.

Blanchester Woman Is Killed in Kentucky

LONDON, Ky. (AP) — An asphalt truck collided with an automobile carrying a Blanchester, Ohio, couple and their three daughters Tuesday. Mrs. Jeanette Witt, 42, the girls' mother, was killed in the head-on crash on U.S. 25 at the city limits.

tively for November.

Jovito Villalba, 55, of the Republican Democratic Union (URD), one of Betancourt's most active critics for years, is considered the strongest anti-government candidate. Villalba blames Betancourt's anti-Communist policy for provoking terrorism.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai Stevenson was just part of the American delegation which went to Moscow this week for the signing of the limited nuclear test ban agreement. But his satisfaction must have been special and ironic.

The second time he ran for the presidency, in 1956, he proposed a nuclear test ban. He wasn't the first to do it. But as the campaign neared its end this became the biggest issue. It didn't do him any good.

That wasn't the only irony in the story.

The Soviets made the suggestion before he did, on Nov. 29, 1955, proposing that the countries with nuclear weapons pledge to discontinue their testing.

Nikita Khrushchev suggested it again in February 1956. And on April 12 of that year Thomas E. Murray, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission, suggested the United States stop testing H-bombs.

Stevenson picked up Murray's idea and serendipitously on April 21 that was before he got the nomination.

All through the campaign, Stevenson hammered away at the idea, which seemed to develop in his mind as he went along. At first he seemed simply to suggest that this country stop the tests unilaterally and ask the Soviet Union to do the same.

In time he seemed to think there should be an agreement with Moscow before this country stopped, although he didn't quite say that. But they said the United States should take the lead in stopping hydrogen bomb tests.

And on Sept. 30, 1956, he said "I have proposed a moratorium" on the tests and "if the Russians don't go along... we will know it... because we can detect H-bomb explosions without inspection." Later he talked of "agreement" to end the tests.

President Eisenhower wanted no part of the Stevenson-Murray proposition. He clamped down on them fast, in April, before the campaign and even before he knew Stevenson would be running against him.

He said this country needed to do research both on H-bombs and missiles to carry them and research without tests would be "perfectly useless—a waste of money."

The Eisenhower administration wanted some way to check, or inspect to prevent cheating. Stevenson's point was that explosions would be known anyway.

Ex-president Truman backed Eisenhower. He said the Soviets couldn't be trusted to keep an agreement. But last week he approved the agreement just made with Moscow. He said "we are duty bound to explore every opportunity to put an end to this armament race."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon excoriated Stevenson for his proposal in the 1956 campaign. He called it "catastrophic nonsense." He said it did not protect "Americans from nuclear bombing because it lacks the essential ingredient of inspection."

But last week in Europe and again Tuesday night on his return to New York, Nixon said he feels sure the Senate will approve the agreement just reached with the Soviet Union although it has no provision for inspection.

And in the middle of the 1956 campaign, Soviet Premier Bulganin wrote to Eisenhower and, without saying so, supported Stevenson by suggesting the big powers at least agree on banning tests, even if they couldn't agree on anything else.

Eisenhower bawled him out for sticking his nose into the presiden-dential race. He said all plans for stopping the arms race and reducing armaments "require systems of inspection and control."

Two years later—on Oct. 31, 1958—the Eisenhower administration announced exactly what Stevenson had proposed: a moratorium on testing. It said the United States would stop testing, leaving it up to Moscow without any agreement, to do likewise.

The Soviets stopped testing, too. The two sides went on talking about disarmament and reaching an agreement on nuclear test bans. Nothing happened. President Kennedy took over. And on Aug. 30, 1961, the Soviet Union announced it was ending its voluntary test ban and would start testing. It did. So did his country.

On Aug. 27, 1962, Kennedy proposed that, if the two sides couldn't agree on how to ban underground tests, the most difficult to detect, at least they should agree on banning tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under the sea.

The Soviets wouldn't buy. Yet the very agreement they reached with this country July 25 is in effect what Kennedy proposed: a ban on tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under the sea. They could not agree on stopping underground tests. So they let that go.

On July 31 Eisenhower wouldn't say he approves or doesn't approve the agreement. He said he preferred not to comment until military men and scientists had expressed their views.

Betancourt Pal Is Favored To Win in Venezuelan Polls

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Sen. Raul Leoni, companion of President Romulo Betancourt for three decades, is the leading contender to win the fall elections and succeed Betancourt next February.

The 58-year-old labor lawyer won unanimous nomination at the recent convention of the big worker-peasant party, Democratic Action (AD), which he helped Betancourt found in 1941.

Leoni told an interviewer he would carry on Betancourt's brand of nationalism, anti-communism and pro-United States policies, but indicated he would withdraw the ban on the Communist party, imposed by Betancourt, if the Communists renounce violence.

"We do not persecute the Communists because of their political ideology but because they have turned to subversion and terrorism," Leoni said.

Leoni, son of an immigrant Frenchman, led a 1928 Caracas

student demonstration against Venezuela's dictator, Juan Vicente Gomez. Betancourt, three years younger, was one of Leoni's lieutenants. Betancourt and Leoni have shared power, defeat, exile and dictators' jails ever since. Leoni was minister of labor when Betancourt was a provisional president in 1945-1948.

Party associates say Betancourt wanted the AD convention to name three or more possible presidential nominees, including Leoni. He apparently thought AD leaders could then negotiate for a united front candidate backed by the Social Christians of the government coalition.

Rafael Caldera, 47-year-old Social Christian leader, rebuffed by Leoni's AD nomination, may decide to run for president. Caldera ran third in 1958 behind Betancourt and the former junta leader, Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal.

Four other men seek the presidency. Voting is scheduled tenta-

KING-SIZED TOMATOES — Mrs. Fannie Ash, 348 E. Franklin St., holds one of her 'mortgage lifter' tomatoes that weighs better than 1½ pounds. The tomatoes, hybrids developed by Brehmer Greenhouse, are Mrs. Ash's pride and joy. She said her largest specimen so far weighed nearly three pounds. Her first plant-ripened tomato last year was ready on July 4.

Betancourt Pal Is Favored To Win in Venezuelan Polls

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Sen. Raul Leoni, companion of President Romulo Betancourt for three decades, is the leading contender to win the fall elections and succeed Betancourt next February.

The 58-year-old labor lawyer won unanimous nomination at the recent convention of the big worker-peasant party, Democratic Action (AD), which he helped Betancourt found in 1941.

Leoni told an interviewer he would carry on Betancourt's brand of nationalism, anti-communism and pro-United States policies, but indicated he would withdraw the ban on the Communist party, imposed by Betancourt, if the Communists renounce violence.

"We do not persecute the Communists because of their political ideology but because they have turned to subversion and terrorism," Leoni said.

Leoni, son of an immigrant Frenchman, led a 1928 Caracas

student demonstration against Venezuela's dictator, Juan Vicente Gomez. Betancourt, three years younger, was one of Leoni's lieutenants. Betancourt and Leoni have shared power, defeat, exile and dictators' jails ever since. Leoni was minister of labor when Betancourt was a provisional president in 1945-1948.

Party associates say Betancourt wanted the AD convention to name three or more possible presidential nominees, including Leoni. He apparently thought AD leaders could then negotiate for a united front candidate backed by the Social Christians of the government coalition.

Rafael Caldera, 47-year-old Social Christian leader, rebuffed by Leoni's AD nomination, may decide to run for president. Caldera ran third in 1958 behind Betancourt and the former junta leader, Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal.

Four other men seek the presidency. Voting is scheduled tentatively for November. Jovito Villalba, 55, of the Republican Democratic Union (URD), one of Betancourt's most active critics for years, is considered the strongest anti-government candidate. Villalba blames Betancourt's anti-Communist policy for provoking terrorism.

Blanchester Woman Is Killed in Kentucky

LONDON, Ky. (AP)—An asphalt truck collided with an automobile carrying a Blanchester, Ohio, couple and their three daughters Tuesday. Mrs. Jeanette Witt, 42, the girls' mother, was killed in the head-on crash on U.S. 25 at the city limits.

On Sept. 30, 1956, he said "I have proposed a moratorium" on the tests and "if the Russians don't go along... we will know it... because we can detect H-bomb explosions without inspection." Later he talked of "agreement" to end the tests.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson was just part of the American delegation which went to Moscow this week for the signing of the limited nuclear test ban agreement. But his satisfaction must have been special and ironic.

The second time he ran for the presidency, in 1956, he proposed a nuclear test ban. He wasn't the first to do it. But as the campaign neared its end this became the biggest issue. It didn't do him any good.

That wasn't the only irony in the story.

The Soviets made the suggestion before he did, on Nov. 29, 1955, proposing that the countries with nuclear weapons pledge to discontinue their testing.

Nikita Khrushchev suggested it again in February 1956. And on April 12 of that year Thomas E. Murray, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission, suggested the United States stop testing H-bombs.

Stevenson picked up Murray's idea and serendipity on April 21. That was before he got the nomination.

All through the campaign, Stevenson hammered away at the idea, which seemed to develop in his mind as he went along. At first he seemed simply to suggest that this country stop the tests unilaterally and ask the Soviet Union to do the same.

In time he seemed to think there should be an agreement with Moscow before this country stopped, although he didn't quite say that. But they said the United States should take the lead in stopping hydrogen bomb tests.

And on Sept. 30, 1956, he said "I have proposed a moratorium" on the tests and "if the Russians don't go along... we will know it... because we can detect H-bomb explosions without inspection." Later he talked of "agreement" to end the tests.

President Eisenhower wanted no part of the Stevenson-Murray proposition. He clamped down on them fast, in April, before the campaign and even before he knew Stevenson would be running against him.

He said this country needed to do research both on H-bombs and missiles to carry them and research without tests would be "perfectly useless—a waste of money."

The Eisenhower administration wanted some way to check, or inspect, to prevent cheating. Stevenson's point was that explosions would be known anyway. Ex-president Truman backed Eisenhower. He said the Soviets couldn't be trusted to keep an agreement. But last week he approved the agreement just made with Moscow. He said "we are duty bound to explore every opportunity to put an end to this armament race."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon excoriated Stevenson for his proposal in the 1956 campaign. He called it "catastrophic nonsense." He said it did not protect "Americans from nuclear bombing because it lacks the essential ingredient of inspection."

But last week in Europe and again Tuesday night on his return to New York, Nixon said he feels sure the Senate will approve the agreement just reached with the Soviet Union although it has no provision for inspection.

And in the middle of the 1956 campaign, Soviet Premier Bulganin wrote to Eisenhower and, without saying so, supported Stevenson by suggesting the big powers at least agree on banning tests, even if they couldn't agree on any thing else.

Eisenhower bawled him out for sticking his nose into the presi-

Ohio Probers Hit Duplicate State Actions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The chairman of Ohio's "Little Hoover Commission" says elimination of "duplicate operations are proving to be extremely fruitful approaches to economy" in government.

"Within the past week, four relatively minor examples of this approach have indicated estimated savings of over $280,000," said Howard Bishop, chairman of the group formally known as the Council for Reorganization of Ohio State Government.

The examples cited by Bishop include consolidation of administrative and clerical functions in a section of the Public Utilities Commission, geographical decentralization in the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, and an end to duplication in Welfare Department case files.

He said the state also could eliminate fiscal auditing of county welfare operations and rely on audits by city, county and federal auditors.

Coke Battles Way To League Title

Coca-Cola is the Little League major champion. The Cokemen did it by twice thumping the Elks, topping them the second time last night, 5-3, on a great team effort and a fine six-hitter by Ed Wells.

Wells pitched a good game, firing third strikes past 10 batters and walking only two. But he needed and got a great support from his mates.

Rick Prushing hurled for the losers.

First Booster Meeting Set For Thursday

The Circleville Booster Club will open its fall campaign to promote CHS athletics at 8 p. m. tomorrow with a meeting at Ted Lewis Park.

The Thursday session will mark the first open meeting. All local persons interested in the growth of the Booster Club are invited to attend.

Last year the Boosters paid more than $2,000 towards the promotion of local sports. Some of the items purchased by the group included a football blocking sled and a whirlpool bath. Tickets were purchased for football and basketball players to Ohio State University games.

Co-operative projects were undertaken with other service clubs to provide cameras, film and other aids for coaching sports at CHS. Arrangements were completed for football, basketball and wrestling team banquets by the Booster Club.

Interested persons are invited by club officials to attend the meetings scheduled this year. Programs will be announced prior to each meeting.

Jewelers Top Kiwanis in Playoff Tilt

Playoff action in the Babe Ruth Majors last night saw L. M. Butch top Kiwanis, 9-8, behind a nifty two-hitter by Phil Smith.

Smith hurled the entire game for the winners. He walked 11 and fanned 11.

Steve Dade suffered the loss. He fired a seven hitter, fanned four and walked 10.

Forrest Lowe boomed the only extra base blow for either squad, a double. Smith managed two singles. Neal Coleman had two and Pritchard two.

GLEN CASSILL and Terry Campbell collected the lone losing singles.

These two teams fight again Thursday at 5:15 p. m. on the main diamond at Ted Lewis Park. The winner of the best of three series meets Lindsey Bakery for the crown next week.

Successful Speed Program at Fair

Reports compiled today indicated a successful harness race program at last week's County Fair.

John Fissell, speed program secretary, expressed thanks to all horsemen for their fine cooperation and to the public for its excellent attendance at the two-day session.

Purses amounted to $3,750 and total entries numbered 73 horses. The races were conducted in 18 heats.

Fissell said the heavy number of entries required a divisoning in some races.

Ron Brand, 23-year-old rookie catcher with Pittsburgh, is an ordained Mormon elder.

240 Open Fire In Ohio Publinx

60 Low Scorers Due In Friday's Finale

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Firing began in earnest today as 240 golfers from all sections of the Buckeye State started shooting for honors in the 30th Ohio Public Links Golf Tournament.

The huge field challenges Springfield's Snyder Park and Reid Memorial courses in two 18-hole qualifying tests today and Thursday.

The 60 low scorers and all ties for the 60th spot, advance to Friday's 36-hole marathon finish.

A new champion is assured since 20-year-old Tom Weiskopf of Bedford, an Ohio State student who has captured the classic the last two years, is not competing.

But three former winners are among the crown seekers. They are Ralph Schneider of Cleveland, who won in 1949; Dick Ryan Sr. of Columbus, who captured the event in 1941; and Art Todd of Columbus, winner of the 1959 tourney.

In today's first round qualifier, half the field played at Snyder while the other half tackled the new Reid Memorial layout. They will switch courses Thursday in second round action.

The tournament committee has yet to decide on which of the courses the 36-hole finale will be played.

Of the 51 Ohio cities and towns represented in the tournament, host Springfield leads the pack with 42 entries.

Other hotshot linksters competing include William Podolski Sr. of Columbus, the 1941 runnerup; Lulu Sabotin of Warren, who finished second in 1961; and Steubenville's Ed Koski, the three-time national Polish kingly.

The four-man city team title and the individual senior championship will be decided on the opening 36 holes.

In a tuneup event at Snyder Park Tuesday, Sabotin and Walt Duda of Warren paired for a winning best-ball score of 65 in amateur-amateur competition. Low individual among the 172 players participating was Paul Flora of Springfield with a four-under-par 68.

Civilian Ranks Third In National Pistol Test

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP) — A civilian from Canton, Charles Rogler, placed third in the .22-caliber slow-fire pistol match Tuesday in the National Rifle and Pistol Championships.

Rogler, one of 2,700 competitors, scored 196-08. His score was bettered only by Army Sgt. I.C. William Blankenship, of Columbus, Ga., national pistol champion the past three years, with the winning score of 197-11, and Army M.Sgt. Stanford Bozeman of Ft. Houston, Tex., with 196-10.

U.S. Tops Canada In Best Ball Test

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The U.S. team won its fifth straight victory over Canada Tuesday in what probably was the final Carling Cup Best Ball Golf Tournament.

The sponsor is staging a $200,000 tournament in Detroit next year and is not expected to renew the best ball match.

Bo Winger of Oklahoma City ticked off seven birdies to lead the U.S. contingent of four professionals and four amateurs to a 7½-4½ victory.

Winger and amateur Ed Meister of Cleveland came in with a seven-under-par best ball score of 65 over the 6,788-yard Sylvania Country Club course to blank Al Johnston of Montreal and amateur Phil Brownlee of Toronto, Ont.

Tribe Loses Homer Duel With Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Cleveland Indians outthumbed the Orioles and got solid pitching from Early Wynn, Pedro Ramos and Jerry Walker, but the Tribe still went down to defeat, 6-4, Tuesday night.

The big damage had already been done when Wynn came in to relieve Barry Latman with nobody out in the first inning. The first four Orioles to come up slammed singles off Latman. Then Jim Gentile cleared the bases with his 18th homer of the season.

Gentile hit another homer in the sixth, and that was the only hit given up by the Cleveland relief crew.

Fred Whitfield hit two homers for the Indians and Woodie Held hit one, but all three came with the bases empty.

Robin Roberts, who had lost four straight to the Indians since coming into the American League last year was tagged for nine hits but finished strong.

The Baltimore right-hander made a fine play in the sixth inning that helped preserve the victory margin. Willie Kirkland sent a perfect drag bunt down the first base line. Roberts raced over to field the ball and dove for first base directly in Kirkland's path.

It was the only possible way to make the putout, and he nipped Willie by inches. Then Whitfield came up and hit his 13th homer of the season.

BOB YOUNG, Dale Jenne and Bob Burton poked two singles apiece for the winners. Ted Adams pounded a double and Richardson and Jerry Young both had singles.

Roger Clark was the only player who resembled a member of his famed squad. He poked a triple and two singles in the loss.

Terry Valentine poked the other single.

Savings Bank Is Handed First Defeat

The Savings Bank finally tasted defeat in the Babe Ruth majors.

After stopping Kochheiser five times in regulation play, the Bankers were topped by this squad, 14-8, in last night's all important playoff series.

Kochheiser's collected eight singles and a double from the usually sharp Banker thrower, Roger Clark. Clark fanned 6.

The Savings Bank managed three singles and a triple, with one player whacking three hits off winning pitcher, Dale Jenne, who fanned 9.

ers and twirled a 12-hitter. He fanned five, walked two and likewise had good support.

Wells banged a homer and topped his night with a single. Rick Sims bombed a triple and three singles to account for most of the winners hits in a perfect night at the plate.

BRYCE BROWN clubbed a triple for the losers. Jack Boyer, and Mike Smith each doubled.

Coke pushed across three counters in the first on three straight singles, a walk, and a few passed balls.

In the Elk half of the first, Brown tripled and scored on an error by the right fielder. Ty Ankrum then singled and touched the plate on Boyer's double.

Coke managed one in the second as Walters singled and scored on a Rick Sims triple. The Elks were shutout in their part of the inning.

In the third, neither team scored but both managed singles. Coke had back to back singles in the fourth but couldn't score.

The Elks then made a valiant effort to pull out a victory. With two out, Prushing singled. Smith walked and they both stole a base.

Bryce Brown whalloped a shot over everybody, but Chris McKenzie, the right fielder who had an earlier error, shot back at top speed and pulled the ball in over his shoulder.

In the Coke fifth, Wells boomed a homer. From then on the Elks went hitless.

Fred Whitfield hit two homers for the Indians and Woodie Held hit one, but all three came with the bases empty.

Robin Roberts, who had lost four straight to the Indians since coming into the American League last year was tagged for nine hits but finished strong.

The Baltimore right-hander made a fine play in the sixth inning that helped preserve the victory margin. Willie Kirkland sent a perfect drag bunt down the first base line. Roberts raced over to field the ball and dove for first base directly in Kirkland's path.

It was the only possible way to make the putout, and he nipped Willie by inches. Then Whitfield came up and hit his 13th homer of the season.

Circleville Night Slated August 14

Circleville Night at Scioto Downs has been changed to Aug. 14, according to officials at the raceway.

Passes to the Circleville observance will be available here later this week. The duets, when received, may be obtained at Anderson's Candy Shop, Paul's Dairy Store and at The Herald.

John Fissell, an official at Scioto, also will have tickets.

Savings Bank Is Handed First Defeat

The Savings Bank finally tasted defeat in the Babe Ruth majors.

After stopping Kochheiser five times in regulation play, the Bankers were tepped by this squad, 14-8, in last night's all important playoff series.

Kochheiser's collected eight singles and a double from the usually sharp Banker thrower, Roger Clark. Clark fanned 6.

The Savings Bank managed three singles and a triple, with one player whacking three hits off winning pitcher, Dale Jenne, who fanned 9.

BOB YOUNG, Dale Jenne and Bob Burton poked two singles apiece for the winners. Ted Adams pounded a double and Richardson and Jerry Young both had singles.

Roger Clark was the only player who resembled a member of his famed squad. He poled a triple and two singles in the loss. Terry Valentine poked the other single.

Man Held for Assault After Burning Woman

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A charge of assault with intent to maim has been filed against Richard Alexander Allen, 25, of Dayton in the burning of Miss Barbara Copeland, 21. Allen is accused of pouring gasoline on her Sunday in her home and setting her on fire. She is in critical condition.

82 Pct. Ringers Wins World Title

SOUL GATE, Calif. (AP)—John Monasmith of Yakima Wash. won the world horseshoe tournament Tuesday night with a score of 32-3.

Monasmith averaged 82.3-10 per cent ringers for the tournament. Canadian national champion Elmer Hohl of Wellesley, Ont. was second with 31-4.

In a three-way tie for third with 29-6 were Carl Steinfeldt of Rochester, N.Y., Harold Reno of Sabina, Ohio, and Paul Focht of Dayton, Ohio. Focht was the defending champion.

Manchester Schools To Absorb Aberdeen

The State Board of Education had revoked Aberdeen High School's charter because it did not meet qualifications. As a result of the vote, the Aberdeen District will be absorbed next July by Manchester.

Butts Trial

ATLANTA (AP)—Georgia football Coach Johnny Griffith has testified he believed last fall that someone fed information on his team to rival Alabama before their 1962 game.

Griffith's testimony came today in the federal court trial.

Butts, former Georgia athletic director, against Curtis Publishing Co.

The suit resulted from an article in the Saturday Evening Post, published by Curtis, which charged the Alabama-Georgia game was rigged by Butts and Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama.

Griffith, followed to the stand today by two of his assistant coaches, read notes which an insurance salesman said he took while listening to a Butts telephone conversation nin

The salesman, George P. Burnett, said he was accidentally cut into the call and heard Butts giving data to Bryant.

Griffith testified the notes contained the only two playing formations used by his squad in the Alabama game.

On cross-examination Griffith said, however, the formations themselves were nothing new and were employed by Alabama and nearly or all other Southeastern Conference teams.

A black and white comic book panel. A man with a beard and mustache, wearing a striped hospital gown, lies in a hospital bed. He is looking up and gesturing with his right hand towards two police officers standing at the foot of the bed. The officers are wearing uniforms with 'POLICE' and 'NEW YORK' on their chests. A speech bubble from the man in the bed says, "HI! HOW'S THE OLD BULLDOG?". The background shows a hospital room with a window and some medical equipment.

TO PERFORM HERE — The famous Aladdin Clowns will perform here Saturday when the Pickaway Shrine Club conducts its third annual Charity Western Horse Show at the Fairgrounds. Assisting the show will be the Ashville Riding Club. All proceeds from the 15-class event go to the Aladdin Temple Crippled Children's Hospital Assn. Other special attractions will be a feature show by the Davis Demons Drum Corps of Circleville and a "name the pony" contest in which a lucky 15-year-old or under winner will win a pony. The western show will get under way at 6 p.m.

Joey Jay Is Redlegs' Sad Sack

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Things are looking pretty bad for Joey Jay.

Jay, a 20-game winner in both 1961 and 1962 lost his 16th game of the season Tuesday night when the Cincinnati Reds dropped the second game of a two-night doubleheader to the Phillies, 7-1. The Reds came from behind to win the first game, 6-4 in 10 innings.

Six of Jay's defeats have been by one run. Three were shut-outs. In four of them, including Tuesday night's, the Reds scored only once.

Tuesday night's run came on Gene Freese's fifth season homer in the seventh inning. It saved Jay from a 5-0 shutout. The Phils scored twice more in their half of the inning.

How does this sort of thing effect the tall right-hander?

"It's frustrating," says Jay. "Not because of personal disappointment, but the shame of it is I haven't done anything to help the club."

The Phils hit Jay freely 12 hits, including a triple and six doubles. John Callison had three doubles and Tony Taylor had a double and a triple. Both scored three runs.

The Reds got only three hits off Dennis Bennett (4-1), who went the distance for Philadelphia.

The opener was a pitchers' duel between Jim O'Toole and Ryne Duren until the fifth inning when Pete Rose hit a two-out homer with one on.

Manchester Schools To Absorb Aberdeen

ABERDEEN, Ohio (AP) — A record number of voters went out Tuesday to vote on whether Aberdeen School District should merge with Manchester or Ripley — and Manchester won, 458-287.

The State Board of Education had revoked Aberdeen High School's charter because it did not meet qualifications. As a result of the vote, the Aberdeen District will be absorbed next July by Manchester.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The body

lay on the office floor. The door burst open and in rushed Perry Mason. He took one look, knelt quickly and tested the fallen man's wrist as a voice in the next room said, "Call a doctor."

"No need for a doctor," said Perry.

"Print it" called the director, using the motion picture phrase indicating that no re-takes would be necessary.

That's the merry murderous way things go as "Perry Mason" starts its seventh—and probably last—season on CBS.

After years during which cast and behind-the-scenes personnel have remained pretty much intact, the operation runs like the proverbial watch. More often than not, regulars Raymond Burr, William Tallman, Barbara Hale and William Hopper go through rehearsals and then the scene is filmed, just once.

Producer Gail Patrick Jackson, once a film star herself, is sorry that prospects for another season are dim. But she is more concerned that CBS has pushed the show back an hour on Thursday to 9 p.m.

Last season the show did quite well starting at 8 p.m., which gave it a half-hour's jump on NBC's popular "Dr. Kildare." A lot of viewers, including this one, soon learned that it was pretty easy to watch the whole legal show on CBS and then switch over for the last half of "Kildare." The medical plot lines could be picked up and the climax was easily understood.

Come fall, however, Mason starts half way through Kildare. And if six years experience watching Mason is a qualification, I would say that it would be almost impossible to start watching at its half way point. Its plots are tight knit, usually very complicated and involve a number of characters. Sometimes the viewer can lose the thread of an episode by merely leaving his set for a drink of water.

Waiting in the wings is another Erle Stanley Gardner project, based on his books about Donald Lam and Bertha Cool, private eyes.

Indianapolis Hits Snag in IL Battle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After setting a blistering pace and building up a 7½ game lead Southern Division, the Indianapolis Indians have struck a snag.

Syracuse defeated Indianapolis 6-1 Tuesday night for the Indians' third straight loss. Jacksonville beat Richmond 5-4 in 11 innings.

Arkansas slugged Atlanta 9-1 and Columbus defeated Rochester 4-3. Toronto and Buffalo split their second straight doubleheader, Toronto winning the first 3-2 in 12 innings and Buffalo the second 3-2.

LEGAL NOTICE

Sealed bids will be received by the Director of Public Service of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio, at the office of said director until 12:00 o'clock noon, August 23, 1963, for furnishing the necessary labor and materials for the installation of 876 line feet, more or less, of curbs and gutters in the public streets of Circle Drive and Markley Road of the said city in front of the properties situated on the said streets where the property owners have not heretofore installed curbs and gutters in front of their said properties, according to plans and specifications on file in said office. Each bid must contain the full name of every person or company interested in the same, and be accompanied by a bond in the sum of $200.00 to the satisfaction of the director or a certified check on some solvent bank, as a guaranty that if the bid is accepted, a contract will be entered into and its performance properly secured. Should any bid be rejected such check will be forthwith returned to the bidder, and should any bid be accepted such check will be returned upon the proper execution and securing of the contract. Pilot Ditches Plane, Finally Is Rescued

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pilot George Roller had a decision to make. Should he try to set his stalled plane carrying his wife and three children down along the lakefront or ditch it in Lake Erie?

He chose the lake. The suburban Beachwood family escaped unharmed Tuesday but threw a fright into two water skiers in a 17-foot boat about 25 yards from where the single-engine Cessna crashed.

The others in the plane were Roller's wife, Toby, and the children, Brad, 14, Kenneth, 12, and Cindy 10. The water skiers Howard Southerland, 25, and John Ward, 23, steered their boat toward the plane, and the Rollers were hauled into the boat.

A short time later, the $21,000 plane sank in 20 feet of water about 60 yards offshore and a quarter of a mile from the airport. It was raised by the Coast Guard and towed to shore.

Cleveland Union OKs Negro Worker

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sheet-metal workers at the Public Hall expansion project, which has been plagued by racial troubles returned to work today under orders from their union.

Fourteen members of Sheet-metal Workers Local 65 walked off the job Tuesday after Gilbert Foster, a Negro, reported for work. Foster was on the job again today.

After a three-hour meeting Tuesday night at City Hall, Paul Ristau, business agent for Local 65, said Foster's application for membership will be processed and that orders were being issued for a return to work at the big project on the mall.

'West Side Story' Is Even Better Fourth Time Around

By Richard L. Davis

The perfectly constructed Leonard Bernstein musical "West Side Story" is indeed an entertainment omnibus.

The Kenley Players production of the award-winning musical, which opened last night at Vets Memorial Auditorium, captures all of the beauty, warmth, humor and heartbreak that has made it one of the greatest contributions to American musical theater.

Larry Kert, who created the role of "Tony" with the original Broadway cast, could never have given a better performance than last night's opener, Bobby Rydell, popular teenage singing idol, turned in a first-rate performance as the leader of the Jets — his first attempt at legitimate theater and Beverly Allynson as "Maria" is appealing although her voice is a little "heavy" for the role.

In a sense, it is difficult to indicate the quality of "West Side Story." True, it is bold in its treatment of racial prejudice and its ending is tragic. But the entire play centers about a touching young romance and offers moments of humor that are quite unique to the modern-day conception of the Romeo and Juliet story.

Set in the slums of New York City, the opposing forces consist of street gangs — one American and the other Puerto Rican.

There are no highlights to "West Side Story." The whole play is stunning — it is all kinds of hits! To avoid listing the complete program, one of the more effective stage extravaganzas is the "Rumble" (a street-gang fight). Larry Kert singing "Maria" and combining forces with Miss Allynson for "Tonight" are ample reward for price of admission. Two comedy production numbers, "Gee, Officer Krupke" and "America," are equally entertaining. A dream sequence and a ballet number titled "Somewhere" is beautiful. "West Side Story" this week is a repeat by the Kenley Players. It was first presented two years ago with Carla Alberghetti (sister of Anna Maria) as the top attraction on the Kenley stage. The long-run movie version was followed last spring by an OSU Stadium Theater production of the play.

The fourth time around this week, the musical is equally enjoyable, if not more so. Besides it offers two more of the original stars in addition to Kert, Carmen Alvarez and Carmine Terra. For those who haven't seen "West Side Story," the Kenley Players production is a must. Any flaws that may be detected are easily overlooked in a vehicle that, in itself, is so highly enjoyable.

Benis Lutz, principal of Teays Valley High School, urges new high school students who have moved into the district to register Aug. 26-31 at the high school office if they have not done so already.

Phil Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Reese, Route 2, Ashville, received his discharge from the U. S. Navy. He returned home July 31. His parents traveled to Virginia to meet him. They spent several days at Virginia Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Baum, 233 Long St., Ashville, are reported improved at Mercy Hospital where they were taken July 29 following a two-car collision just north of Ashville.

Mr. Baum's son, Richard, arrived Wednesday from his home in Phoenix, Ariz., and stayed until Sunday. Also arriving Saturday was Mrs. James Allison, Mr. Baum's daughter Priscilla, from Corpus Christi, Texas who also is planning to spend several days with the Baums.

Also injured in the accident and taken to Children's Hospital where Joyce and Mike Neff, children of Mrs. Ruth Neff; Peggy Costlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Costlow; and Frankie Fout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fout; all of South Bloomfield.

Frankie and Mike were released Tuesday morning following the accident. Peggy was released on Wednesday, and Joyce, who was the most seriously injured of the children, was able to return home Sunday afternoon.

She is suffering a broken collarbone, three broken ribs, a bruised left lung and had 10 stitches taken in her head and two in her right arm.

August 15 marks the beginning of another football season for Teays Valley High School. All interested boys being asked to report to the school for the issuing of practice uniforms and equipment and an orientation meeting with head coach Marion Waites.

The Bastian Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: July 29 - moved Mrs. Reed Gloyd to Mercy Hospital; Mrs. Anna Thomas of South Bloomfield to the Figgitt and Smith Nursing Home in Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Baum to Mercy Hospital and Joyce Neff, Peggy Costlow, and Frankie Fout to Children's Hospital, all injured in an auto accident, north of Ashville; July 30 - moved Mary Puckett to Doctor's Hospital; July 31 - moved Hud Pettibone of Millport to Doctor's Hospital; Aug. 1 - returned Mrs. Walter Morrison home from Mercy Hospital and Miss Caudy Melvin to Doctor's Hospital and Monday, Aug. 5 took John Anderson of Norton, Virginia and Clarence Osbourne of Big Stone Gap, Va. to Berger Hospital, following an accident on Route 23.

The Hannah Circle of the First English Lutheran Church will meet 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Lon Cromley.

U.S. To Wage 'Chicken War'

NEW YORK (AP) — The lowly chicken is causing an international fight.

The United States, after weeks of wrangling with the European Common Market, announced on Tuesday it will retaliate against tariff increases on American poultry.

The government, if a settlement is not reached, will raise duties against European products to equal the loss of $46 million a year in American poultry exports.

The U.S. move would affect the prices Americans pay for imports, but the dollar amount isn't nearly as important as what the action means. The lost poultry sales are only a fraction of the $5.6 billion worth of U.S. goods exported to European Common Market countries each year.

The move reflects a new American attitude and tactic — a get-tough policy. It also reflects these newly complicated circumstances in world trade.

—The Common Market has asserted itself as a strong-willed equal in trade dealings with the United States.

Europe's farm blocs have made it clear they are keeping a sharp eye out for their own interests, which often clash with those of America.

—Europe, having trouble working out its own agricultural policy, has resisted U.S. efforts to link agricultural and industrial products in trade talks.

—Protectionist sentiment in the United States—in the shoe and textile industries especially — shows signs of rallying.

Some trade observers question the wisdom of retaliation. They say the situation is far too complicated to be solved merely by acting tough.

Others agree with Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., that the United States might be "out-traded and sold down the river unless we adopt a hard line."

This kind of tariff raising reverberates around the non-Communist world because of international trade rules that say all cuts and boosts must be applied to everyone.

Most observers doubt there will be more than a round or two of tariff retaliations. Still, they say, negotiations can be expected to move pretty slowly. Negotiators on both sides will be defensive.

cautious and sensitive to public opinion.

In the early post-war years Americans grew progressively warm toward liberalizing world trade. The idea of "trade, not aid" to get ravaged nations going again was appealing. When low-priced imports began brightening American shop counters, buyers were pleased anew.

Then, early this year, France vetoed British membership in the Common Market. Complaints were lodged against American investments in Europe.

France asserted its ambitions to sell its farm surpluses to Common Market neighbors. American negotiators, asking that farm goods be tied to industrial goods in trade talks, hit a brick wall.

Then German farmers asked protection against the cheap chickens of America's automated hatcheries. They got a higher levy. When American negotiators complained, the tariff was hiked even higher.

The government, if a settlement is not reached, will raise duties against European products to equal the loss of $46 million a year in American poultry exports.

The U.S. move would affect the prices Americans pay for imports, but the dollar amount isn't nearly as important as what the action means. The lost poultry sales are only a fraction of the $5.6 billion worth of U.S. goods exported to European Common Market countries each year.

The move reflects a new American attitude and tactic — a get-tough policy. It also reflects these newly complicated circumstances in world trade.

—The Common Market has asserted itself as a strong-willed equal in trade dealings with the United States.

—Europe's farm blocs have made it clear they are keeping a sharp eye out for their own interests, which often clash with those of America.

—Europe, having trouble working out its own agricultural policy, has resisted U.S. efforts to link agricultural and industrial products in trade talks.

—Protectionist sentiment in the United States—in the shoe and textile industries especially — shows signs of rallying.

Some trade observers question the wisdom of retaliation. They say the situation is far too complicated to be solved merely by acting tough.

Others agree with Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., that the United States might be "out-traded and sold down the river unless we adopt a hard line."

This kind of tariff raising reverberates around the non-Communist world because of international trade rules that say all cuts and boosts must be applied to everyone.

Most observers doubt there will be more than a round or two of tariff retaliations. Still, they say, negotiations can be expected to move pretty slowly. Negotiators on both sides will be defensive.

cautious and sensitive to public opinion.

In the early post-war years Americans grew progressively warm toward liberalizing world trade. The idea of "trade, not aid" to get ravaged nations going again was appealing. When low-priced imports began brightening American shop counters, buyers were pleased anew.

Then, early this year, France vetoed British membership in the Common Market. Complaints were lodged against American investments in Europe.

France asserted its ambitions to sell its farm surpluses to Common Market neighbors. American negotiators, asking that farm goods be tied to industrial goods in trade talks, hit a brick wall.

Then German farmers asked protection against the cheap chickens of America's automated hatcheries. They got a higher levy. When American negotiators complained, the tariff was hiked even higher.

Lawyer for Antioch Students Plans Appeal

XENIA Ohio (AP) — Asher Bogin, attorney for 17 Antioch College students convicted of trespassing at the Lewis Gagner barber shop in Yellow Springs, has confirmed he will appeal the case.

Bogin said he would file late this week. The students were fined $35 and costs and given suspended 30-day jail sentences last week for their part in a May 18 sit-in at the shop. The Antioch Committee for Racial Equality resumed picketing at Gagner's Tuesday in protest of his refusal to serve Negroes.
